POPE PLANS CONSISTORY.

Selection of Ten New Cardinals May Be Made Before the Year Closes.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ROME, Aug. 2.—At the Vatican tonight it was rumored that Pope Pius will hold a consistory either before November, when the reform of the constitutions becomes effective, or in December, at the close of his jubilee year. In either instance, it is asserted, Mgr. Holmes will create ten new cardinals, because the sacred college is now reduced to a membership of fifty-eight, there being twelve red hats to be bestowed.

The presence of Cardinal Gibbons in Rome, it is expected, will result in a decision being reached as to whether or not a new American cardinal will be chosen this year.

AWFUL DISASTER

SWEPT BY FLAMES.

Forest Fire Blots Out Towns.

Conflagration Spreading All Over British Columbia, Razing Country.

Fernie Entirely Destroyed and Scores of Lives Lost in the Woods.

Appeal Is Made to Winnipeg for Aid to the Homeless Thousands.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WINNIPEG (Man.) Aug. 2.—As a result of bush fires the town of Fernie, B. C., is wiped off the map as a child cleans a state; Michel, fourteen miles distant, is in flames, and the fate of Hosmer, Olsen and Sparwood, intervening towns, is in doubt, they being cut off from all communication.

Over 100 lives are known to have been lost, seventy-four of them at Fernie. Thousands are fleeing to Winnipeg, and the city has been appealed to for aid.

A territory of 100 square miles in extent is a seething mass of flames. Through it are scattered hundreds of lumbermen and prospectors, so that the actual loss of life will not be known for days. The property of the Canadian Pacific and the Great Northern railways is destroyed, the bridges and rolling stock burned so that it is impossible to enter or leave the burning area.

The inhabitants of the towns have fled to open districts in the vicinity in hope of safety. The railway companies have placed all available trains at their disposal, and unless there is a change of wind within the next twenty-four hours the whole of the Crow's Nest Pass country will be left in flames. There is no possibility of estimating the loss of life and property which will result, for the flames are driven by a half gale, making it impossible to put up a fight against their advance.

The conflagration is the greatest which has ever reached Canada and ranks only with the San Francisco disaster. For the past month forest

GOV. HASKELL RETORTS.

Oklahoma Executive Sees Wall Street Influence in Bonaparte's Opinion on Banking Law.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GUTHRIE (Okla.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The opinion amounts to nothing. Why should not the Washington officials oppose the guaranty deposit laws when they have selected George I. Sheldon of No. 2 Wall street to be their campaign treasurer on the promise of Wall street to raise $2,000,000 for their campaign fund in return for the Republicans' standing pat on the tariff and opposing the guaranty for bank deposits?"

This was the reply of Gov. Haskell, who, with William J. Bryan, secured the passage of the guaranty law in Oklahoma, when shown today the opinion of Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte that national banks in Oklahoma cannot take advantage of the State's guaranty banking law. The State law makes it optional with the national banks to comply with the law and thus far only fifty-seven out of nearly three hundred national banks in the State have complied.

The State, however, withdraws public deposits from such national banks as do not comply. It is believed here that Bonaparte's decision will compel the fifty-seven to surrender their participation in the State law. National bankers who did not comply with the law greet Bonaparte's decision with satisfaction.

BOY SWIMS HELL GATE.

Life-Saver not Only Comes Out First in Swimming Contest, but Breaks Speed Record.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I'll prove as good a sticker as any of you," said a sun-browned youth as he plunged off the One Hundredth-street pier into the East River this morning.

It was Jack Gilday, the eighteen-year-old life-saver of the Battery Public Baths. Two hours later he waded ashore at North Beach, the first of twelve swimmers who attempted to survive the rapids of treacherous Hell Gate.

Not only did his performance stand out because of his youth, but his was a double victory, for in the memory of the oldest boatman along the Astoria Shore no man ever swam the distance before inside of two hours. Gilday covered the five and a quarter miles in just one hour and twenty-two minutes.

The contest was the second held by the United States Volunteer Life-saving Corps. Last year eight attempted to swim, and only two finished. Twelve contestants entered the race today, among them being M. Bratton, a one-legged man.

THE WHY AND WHEREFORE.

HARRIMAN SPEAKS.

Financier Explains Gould Combine.

Roads Taken Over to Save a Very Bad Situation, Financially.

Not Good Thing for Country to Have Any More Receiverships.

Oriental Trade Largely Sentimental, but Japs Must Be Reckoned With.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "There's not going to be any abandonment of railroads nor is there to be any combination or consolidation of railways over night. What has been done has been done to save a bad situation, financially speaking." This statement was made with emphasis by Edward H. Harriman tonight, discussing the deal whereby a syndicate of bankers in effect paid $8,000,000 for $12,000,000 worth of Wheeling and Lake Erie short-term notes.

"Some of us," said Mr. Harriman, "do not believe that it would be a good thing for the country generally for many more of the railroads to go into the hands of receivers and so we are doing what we can to prevent this in the interest of self preservation. That is all there is to it."

Mr. Harriman was asked why the transcontinental railroads had decided to go out of the export business to the Orient and out of a portion of the import traffic.

"The oriental business is largely sentimental," he replied. "You know what I mean." The building up of a large Asiatic trade through the Pacific Coast ports is largely a dream and a fake. It is not my dream for I have been onto the situation from the very first. We believe that there is not enough in the business to warrant our taking any chance of injury to our domestic business."

"What will you do with your steamships which are now plying between the United States and the Orient?" was asked.

"I do not know. We have been carrying air instead of freight in them for some time and I suppose we can continue to do so. This fact never seems to have interested the government which has never offered to come to the aid of the companies trying to keep this business alive. I have never asked the government for any aid, but when it had a chance it did not grant a subsidy."

"Will the Japanese eventually control the Pacific trade?"

"They would like to alright, and possibly they may. You know they are a nation of 50,000,000 industrial souls and the government is working in harmony with the commercial interests. That makes a tremendous power and one which will have to be reckoned with commercially ere long."

GOULD GIVES UP EASTERN TERRITORY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pittsburgh learned today that E. H. Harriman has supplanted George J. Gould absolutely in this district so far as railway improvements is concerned. It is declared that Gould, in order to make peace with Harriman and save a portion of his railroad properties, was compelled to practically relinquish the control of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal, the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the West Maryland and the West Side Belt Roads and sign an agreement that he never would again attempt railroad construction east of Toledo, O.

This means that the Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt lines, which, with the aid of the Baltimore and Ohio, have so successfully fought the Wabash invasion here, now have a new foe. Not only this, but the two systems now find the Baltimore and Ohio Road allied with the enemy.

With undisguised satisfaction Pittsburgh has learned that E. H. Harriman has been placed in communication with Joseph Ramsey since the deal with the Goulds was put under way and that the former president of the Wabash again may be in charge of the work in this part of the country. There is a belief here that had Ramsey not been interfered with by Gould and Jeffrey he would have made Gould's railroad ventures in Pittsburgh a success.

DRAGGED BY HER HAIR.

Young Woman is Pulled Along by Auto for a Block Before Chauffeur Stops Machine.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATLANTA (Ga.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With her hair entangled about the lever of an automobile, Miss Josephine Brady was dragged a block this afternoon by the rapidly-running machine before it was brought to a stop. Beyond the loss of some hair and a scalp wound, Miss Brady emerged from her perilous position unhurt.

As she was crossing a street, she was struck by the automobile and knocked down. In falling, her head struck the lever and her hair came down and tangled about it. In that position she was kept from contact with the wheels, and was dragged, screaming, for a block before the excited chauffeur stopped the car.

"MAGNATE" IS SECTION BOSS.

DAUGHTER OF ITALIAN COUNT HAS DREAM DISPELLED.

Marries Man Who Professes to Be Millionaire Railroad Owner, but Turns Out to Be One of Road's Poorest Employees—Father Takes Her Away from Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MUSKOGEE (Okla.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Louis Accassano, Italian count, and his elder daughter, Esther, were arrested at Weleetka yesterday, the former being charged with kidnaping his daughter who but a few days before had been married to James B. Lalley.

The arrest was made by Sheriff Smith, but after the Count had told his story he and his daughter were released, and are now on their way to New York. They will sail for Italy in a few days.

The Italian claims his daughter was deceived into marrying Lalley, whom she believed to be a millionaire railroad magnate, but who turned out to be a section boss.

Count Accassano was sent to Texas in 1904 by his government to inspect railways, and at Monterey his daughter met Lalley. Lalley wooed and won the girl, and when the Count returned to Rome a year later the couple were engaged. Lalley was asked to come to Rome, where the ceremony was to be performed. But he said he could not get away, and he induced the Italians to return to America and meet him at Dustin, Okla. They arrived at Dustin Tuesday, and the father became suspicious, but while he was investigating into Lalley's wealth the latter took the girl to a justice of the peace, and they were married.

When the Count discovered that Lalley was a penniless section boss he became enraged, and, spirited his daughter away.

The girl claimed she only agreed to marry Lalley, and that the ceremony must be performed by a Catholic priest.

Lalley is still working as a section boss, and will not spend his summer in the Eternal City.

Farman Successful in Flight.

Machine Soars Like a Creature of the Air With Real Life.

Operator Maintains Perfect Control and Spectators Marvel at Ease.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A third of a mile in thirty seconds, with his aeroplane in perfect control all the time, was the record made by Henri Farman, the French aeronaut, at the Brighton Beach race track today.

The test was made under favorable conditions and Farman was given an ovation by the crowd of 2000 persons that witnessed the flight. An hour was spent jockeying, the aeroplane being pushed all over the inclosure by a dozen helpers, while Farman, running ahead, searched for the particular air current that suited his purpose. With one hand he directed the machine first this way and then that and with the other he slapped desperately at the mosquitoes that were making life a burden for himself, his assistants and the camera men who followed.

At a spot directly in front of the clubhouse the aeroplane was faced to the west and with the aid of a helper its tenant mounted. The power was on, the two insignificant-looking propeller blades whirred almost, and the machine roared and sputtered like an impatient automobile.

Then it moved slowly forward on its four bicycle wheels. Perhaps a hundred feet had been covered when, on an incline so gradual that the point of detachment could not be determined at a few yards' distance, the toy bird found its wings.

It reached a height of twenty feet and sped in a bee line without a tremor. With its supports and wheels suggesting dangling legs and clutching claws, the white-winged affair looked for all the world like a frightful creature of the air.

Nearing the lower turn the machine slowed down at a decline and settled to the ground as gently as its living model might cover a nest of eggs.

Weather permitting, Farman will give exhibitions daily until August 15.

UNION MENACE.

PARIS THREATENED WITH BIG STRIKE.

Federation of Labor Announces a Twenty-four Hour Tie-up as Demonstration of Its Power—Press Condemns Intolerant Behavior.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Aug. 2.—The twenty-four-hour general strike with which the city is threatened tomorrow is the sole topic of conversation in Paris tonight. While there are no signs of panic, such as preceded the May day manifestations in 1906, considerable anxiety and indignation prevails in the public mind. The press, almost without exception, reprehends the intolerant behavior of the revolutionary section of the general labor organization, and urges on the government the suppression of it as the only means of removing what it declares is a growing menace to society.

The authorities are confident they have the situation well in hand. In addition to the large police force of Paris, the regular garrison numbers 25,000 men, and this force, it is held, is ample to assure order. The troops all have been confined to barracks, so as to be available at a moment's notice.

The labor camp is convinced that it is able to treat the nation to a demonstration of its power such as seldom before has been seen. It is said that the general labor federation has received the adhesions of unions affiliated with it, affecting 100,000 workers, including the car men, commercial travelers, silversmiths, electricians, printers, day laborers, bufchers, bakers, hotel employes, etc.

Very few of the unions refused to issue a strike order for tomorrow in compliance with the federation's instructions.

Early today bill stickers began to placard walls with a most violent proclamation which explains that tomorrow's strike is in protest against the action of the government in "preparing an ambush and turning loose the soldiery, who by charging and sabering, had stung the manifestants into replying, thus giving the troops an excuse for massacre. The authorities do not dare to announce the real number of workers assassinated at Vigneaux. The crime cannot pass unnoticed and the only reply possible is a twenty-four hours strike.

The police arrested the bill stickers and the manifestation was then distributed in the form of hand bills.

The first sign this evening of the strike was when a number of printers did not put in an appearance at the newspaper offices and it is feared that half of the journals will be unable to print. Those offices where work is proceeding are surrounded by police in order to ward off attacks by militant laborites.

One newspaper, profiting by the experience of the electric strike in 1907, has placed a large automobile outside its doors to supply power to its machinery in case of emergency.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

BANKING ACT BRYAN TOPIC.

OKLAHOMA GUARANTY ISSUE IN POLITICAL DISCUSSION.

Democratic Nominee Believes That Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte's Opinion Accentuates the Issue and Emphasizes Necessity of Legislation Favoring Depositors.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FAIRVIEW (Lincoln, Neb.) Aug. 2.—Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte's opinion, delivered yesterday, holding it to be illegal for national banks of Oklahoma who contribute toward the guaranty fund for the protection of depositors of Oklahoma to avail themselves of the other privileges of the State Banking Act, was the subject of a good deal of discussion here today.

Prominent Democrats of Lincoln freely averred that following so closely on the heels of the Standard Oil reversal in Chicago, and the contempt cases against the labor leaders in Washington, the opinion of the Federal Attorney-General still further strengthened the Democratic party in the coming political campaign.

Mr. Bryan himself gave expression to the effect that the opinion will have in the elections. "It accentuates the issue," he said, "and emphasizes the necessity of legislation framed from the standpoint of the depositor rather than from the standpoint of a banker."

He would talk no further on the subject, but said he would give it liberal treatment in his forthcoming speech at Topeka, Kan., some time during the present month.

The usual Sunday quiet prevailed at Fairview today. In the morning Mr. Bryan, accompanied by his wife, went into Lincoln and attended the services at Westminster Presbyterian Church, where Mr. Bryan said he heard a splendid sermon, the text being "How Shall We Escape if We Neglect so Great Salvation?" There were very few callers at the Bryan home, but a large number of people rode out and strolled through the grounds.

Having practically gotten his acceptance speech off his hands, Mr. Bryan is directing some of his thoughts to his farm. The principal object of interest with him just now is a large field of alfalfa, from which in a few days he expects to gather the third crop of the present season, and which he calculates will yield still another.

Plans for the platform in the grove where the notification exercises are to take place on August 12 have been completed and work on its construction will be begun early in the week.

The committee in charge of arrangements are much gratified over the prompt acceptance of the invitation by the Republican State and city officials to participate in the ceremonies, thus insuring the non-partisan feature.

TAFT IS NOT PARTICULAR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HOT SPRINGS (Va.) Aug. 2.—"Just call me Mr. Taft, and if you drop into colloquialism, call me Bill."

This was Judge Taft's laughing reply today when granting an audience to a newspaper man, who had severally addressed him as "Mr. Secretary," "Governor," "Judge," and "Mr." Taft.

"I first got the name Bill at Yale," continued Mr. Taft, replying to a question. "Before I went there I had been called "Will" in my home and among the Cincinnati boyhood friends, and when I got through school I was called "Will" at home. My younger brother, Harry, however, never called me Will after a happening one day at college. We roomed together on the top floor of Fornam Hall, our room being just over the middle entrance. Harry was a freshman, I a junior. He had gone out and forgotten to take with him a book he wanted. He came back to the entrance and looking up on the outside, yelled, 'Oh, Willie.' Well, in a second there was a head out of every one of the 400 windows, and it seemed to me as though every one yelled at once. At any rate, there was one long chorus of 'Oh, Willie.' That cured Harry. He has called me Bill ever since."

"How about the 400 students?"

"Oh, they called me Bill just the same. You see, I weighed 700 then."

Mr. and Mrs. Taft attended services at St. Luke's Church today and listened to a sermon by Rev. Dr. John J. Scott.

"Get up and eat, for the journey is too long for you," was the text from Second Kings, from which Dr. Scott drew the lesson that frequent spiritual food was as necessary for the present day Christian life as was the literal command to Elijah, which he had quoted.

Bart McCleary, second assistant Postmaster-General and candidate for Congress, who has just returned from a review of the situation in Minnesota and Wisconsin, spent the day here. Mr. McCleary assured Mr. Taft that, in his opinion, the Republican situation in Minnesota is in excellent shape. It is his belief that Gov. Johnson will not be a candidate for reelection.

In Wisconsin Mr. McCleary says he can see the good effect of the speech of acceptance already. The handling by Judge Taft of the railroad question, he says, has pleased the La Follette wing of the party in that State.

LINCOLN (Neb.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By a nearly unanimous vote, W. J. Bryan was today made an honorary member of Lincoln Typographical Union, No. 209.

When the motion was made at the meeting to place Mr. Bryan's name on the list of honorary members there was some opposition on the ground that Mr. Bryan was ineligible, not being a practical printer. Others questioned the advisability of taking such action because it might be construed as bringing politics into the union, and as a counter move it was suggested by Republican members that Mr. Taft should also be made an honorary member. The principal objection, however, was on the ground that Mr. Bryan's Commoner did not bear the union label, and this matter brought out an animated debate.

It was finally explained that to place him on the roll was simply intended as a courtesy by the local union to its foremost citizen, and with this understanding Mr. Bryan was admitted. To remove the claim of partisanship, it was also voted to make Gov. Sheldon, a Republican, an honorary member.

TRAIN WRECK IN SOUTH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ATLANTA (Ga.) Aug. 2.—Train No. 23 on the Southern Railway, the New Orleans-New York limited, northbound, which left here at noon today, met with an accident some thirty miles from Charlotte, N. C., tonight. The tender, mail car and baggage car left the rails and three clerks were injured. No passengers were hurt.

UNUSUAL WILL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

APPLETON (Wis.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Do you know the full name of your great-grandfather? That is all that stands between Mrs. Frederika Lorenz, aged 95 years, in the town of Ellington, this county, and an estate worth many millions of dollars—$50,000,000, according to report. This statement was made by Mrs. Charles Ensles, a niece of the aged woman and a great-great-granddaughter of the millionaire brewer whose estate will soon pass into the hands of his heirs after 150 years. According to Mrs. Ensles, her great-grandfather, whose name was Witthuhn, was a general in the Prussian army nearly 200 years ago. He was a very wealthy brewer, living in Pensian, Prussia. He had a brother, a preacher, with whom he had quarreled and who he swore should never get any of his money. The general left a most unusual will. In order to prevent his brother or the church from getting any of his money, he provided in his will that it should go to the children of the third generation, his great-grandchildren. The one thing that stands in the way of securing this immense wealth is the fact that none of the heirs, not even old Mrs. Lorenz, can remember the first name of the ancestor fires have been raging in the mountains of the Elk River valley country, but they have not been considered serious. Sunday morning a heavy wind sprang up from the west and early in the afternoon the flames appeared over the crest of the mountains to the west of Fernie. This ran down the mountain side and before a fireguard could be organized, had entered the town. Within an hour the town was doomed and the inhabitants sought safety in flight, leaving their all behind them. All night and this morning the exodus continued, the destination being a small prairie in the valley, thirty miles south of town. At present 2000 people are camped there in the open, their only protection being shelters built of brush or blankets, while a constant shower of sparks from the burning area keep falling through the pall of smoke by which they are surrounded. For a time communication with towns to the east was kept open, but with the burning of the bridges across Elk River this was closed.

SWEPT BY FLAMES.

The hills in all directions are a seething mass of flames, cutting off every avenue of escape. The fire spread with unprecedented rapidity and it is feared that several parties who tried to get through the pass have been cut off.

TOWN IN ASHES.

In Fernie, the only buildings remaining are six small shacks on the banks of the Elk River, the offices of the Crow's Nest Coal Company, and the Pikes wood warehouse. The offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Great Northern are gone together with all the rolling stock in the yards, the sleeping car Osceola being the only car left. One hundred cars of coke, the property of the Great Northern, are gone and the stock piles of coal and coke, holding about 500,000 tons, are in flames. It is now feared that the fire may get in the mines themselves, several of which are open in the neighborhood. This will mean incalculable damage, as the whole of the valley is underlaid with coal. At present the fire is following the crest of the mountain chain above Sparwood, eating down into the valleys on either side. It is traveling at a tremendous rate and unless there is a change of wind will cross the boundary line into Montana within the next twelve hours.

There are thousands of miners and prospectors' claims in the track of the fire, all of which are in peril. A slight change of wind has occurred and Michel has been taken out of the more direct path.

"Fire-fighting apparatus is of no avail for the air is filled with fragments of burning wood and the flames seem to leap ahead of the conflagration as though the air itself were on fire. The heat is intense and many of the firefighters have gone down ahead of it.

HOPE TO SAVE MICHEL.

A correspondent of Michel wires as follows: "There is now some hope of saving the business section of the town and every available man is on duty. The Premier, Campbell, has arrived from the Sparwood district on a handcar with three men, all of whom are badly burned. They made an attempt to save the property of the Sparwood Lumber Company half way between here and Fernie, but without avail. They were at once taken to the hospital, two of them in a precarious condition."

Mr. Forester, manager of the mill, with his wife and about thirty men, when last seen, were trying to save the mill. A line of flame cut off their escape to the east and unless they were able to get out to the west, all are dead, for the country is like a furnace. On the way the party found the body of Peter Miller lying on the Canadian Pacific Railroad. He had died from wounds received while trying to escape the flames. The bodies of four men were brought here by a Great Northern yard engine. These men had lost their lives trying to save the Great Northern bridge across the Elk River, fifteen miles south of here. They had kept up the fight till their return was cut off and lost their lives in vain attempts to escape.

The Great Northern tried to open communication to the south, but the destruction of two bridges has cut them off absolutely.

Reports from Hosmer say that it has burned with great loss of life, but this lacks confirmation.

A Canadian Pacific engine and train is being held in readiness here in case it is necessary to abandon the town and with communication open to leave, there is not much danger of more loss of life here.

There are 3000 persons here, many of whom are camping on a small plain north of town. Being at the end of the valley, the danger is not so acute.

LOSS TO RAILROADS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Aug. 2.—The Great Northern officials have received word from their superintendent at White Fish, Mont., that sixty-five loads of coke and coal, and three bridges belonging to the company have been destroyed by the forest fires at Fernie. The big bridge just west of the depot at Fernie and No. 3 and No. 4 bridges across the Elk River, between Hosmer and Michel, have been wiped out.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has lost two depots, a water tank and all of its cars at Fernie.

Only a few residences are left standing in the town. A message says six are known to have perished and possibly many more have met death in the flames. A hurricane is blowing and it is impossible to head off the flames.

SURVIVORS FACE STARVATION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CRANBROOK (B. C.) Aug. 2.—W. Carswell, assistant superintendent of the Great Northern Railroad, arrived here from Fernie. He made his way out at great risk. Part of the trip was made on a handcar and the balance on foot. Every stick of timber along the line is burned and not a living thing is left. The bodies of Peter Miller and Louis Fratina, a section hand, have been brought in, and four unknown Italians have been found. Mr. and Mrs. Forester and twenty-five men, have arrived at Campbell's Siding, having been forced to give up their fight to save the Sparwood mill. Five members of the party succumbed.

Starvation has been added to the terrors. When the people left their homes for the protection camps, little or no provisions were taken and now there are some 6000 people on the prairies with nothing to eat.

ENTIRE CAMP PERISHED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 2.—A special to the Oregonian from Vancouver, B. C., says: A report from Cranbrook, the first station west of Fernie, says that sixty-one men and two women were burned to death in No. 4 logging camp of the Elk Rivers Lumber Company. The camp was surrounded by fire and not a single person escaped. Hundreds of refugees are being sent through from Fernie to Cranbrook tonight.

Appeal to Premier.

OTTAWA (Ont.) Aug. 2.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier received the following telegram this evening from Cranbrook, B. C.:

"Disastrous fire Kootenay Valley, Fernie, Hosmer, Crow's Nest and other places almost completely ruined. Not less than 5000 people homeless. Canadian Pacific Railway carrying them to Elko and Cranbrook. Every effort is being made locally, but these people are utterly without food or shelter. Fire covers seventy miles. Seventy lives lost. Immediate relief required. Telegraph instructions at once. (Signed) Thomas Roberts, Liberal Association; J. H. King, M.P."

The Premier will consult with his colleagues the first thing in the morning to see what action can be taken by the government.

Loss of Half-Million.

NELSON (B. C.) Aug. 2.—Advices received here are that the Canadian Pacific losses amount to about $500,000. It is said the Great Northern bridge at Hosmer is now burning, also 100 cars of coal and coke. The fire is spreading to Coal Creek, a town of 1500 inhabitants.

Death Roll Large.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—A special received here at 11 p. m. from Nelson, B. C., places the number of dead around Fernie alone at 70 to 100.

The death list may be double this number. The population of the stricken towns, according to latest figures, is as follows: Elko, 400; Fernie, 6000; Michel, 1800; Hosmer, 1000; Coal Creek, 1500; Morrissey, 100.

The Crow's Nest Pass country in this vicinity is the richest in the Dominion.

FAVORS SUNDAY SALOONS.

St. Louis Priest Says We Might as Well Close Restaurants, Drug Stores, Etc.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Father Mayer, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, has some original views on Sunday closing which he does not hesitate to speak.

The priest is a hearty advocate of law enforcement, and wants the lid on tight while the Sunday-closing law is on the statute books, but he unhesitatingly declares that he thinks that it would be much better if there were no lid.

"I see no more reason or necessity for closing the saloons on Sunday than for shutting up restaurants, cigar stands or drug stores," said Father Mayer.

Father Mayer's parish is south of the city limits in the South Broadway district, which is now much in the limelight. It is located on the military road near Hofmeister avenue, in the heart of the South Broadway region, the saloons of which have been the object of the attention of the St. Louis county authorities at Clayton for several weeks.

Mrs. Longworth Induces Them to Abandon Strike in Her Hotel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 2.—Exclusive Dispatch.] Ernest Ruffini, a delegate to the recent Kappa Sigma Fraternity convention, here, tells how Alice Roosevelt-Longworth settled a strike in the Yellowstone Park Hotel.

The Longworth party, after attending the Democratic National Convention, found crowds at all the Park hotels. Waiters were ugly, and the arrival of the Longworths at a full house precipitated a strike. The proprietor vainly pleaded and threatened. Then Mrs. Longworth took a hand. She sent for the proprietor and said:

"I think if you ask the girls to go back to work as a personal favor to me they will, and besides, I will give them $5 each a day while we are here."

CLOUDBURST CAUSES DEATH.

Resultant Flood Drowns Young Woman.

Several Men from the Same Camp Missing.

Two Others Narrowly Escape Drowning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Etta Pixley is dead and several lumbermen are missing, the result of a cloudburst on the east slope of the Sierra Nevada Mountains south and west of Reno this afternoon.

Without warning, the flood struck the little logging camp of the Verdi Lumber Company, fourteen miles northwest of Verdi, and carried everything before it. It is expected that several horses and a number of cattle were carried away, but because of the fact that all wires are down it is impossible to get in communication with the place. Many of the employés were caught in the flood, but how many got out is not known.

The body of Miss Pixley was recovered in a cañon near Verdi, late this afternoon. She was the daughter of Thomas Pixley, foreman of the logging camp. Mrs. Pixley is visiting at San Pablo, Cal.

Further to the south this afternoon, G. Mott Ross, former superintendent of the Virginia City Mines, but now of Stockton, Cal., and James Burke, a big property owner of this country, while examining some mining property, were caught in the flood, and for three hours battled against the water for their lives. They finally reached a farm house, where stimulants and fresh clothing were given them. Ross was brought to Reno.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Fire which is supposed to have started in the kitchen of the Fly Trap restaurant, at No. 815 Golden Gate avenue, shortly after 5 o'clock this morning, caused a loss of approximately $75,000, destroyed the stock of several business establishments and completely gutted the building.

The places destroyed and the estimated losses follow:

P. B. Walsh, saloon, $6000; Standard Motor Car Company, $20,000; Merry Bicycle Company, $10,000; Pacific Coast Rattan Company, $10,000; J. M. Litchfield, military tailor, $5000; Fly Trap restaurant, $5000.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Leiah Cambers, one of the most talented young ladies in San José musical and society circles, was married today at the Episcopal Church to Herbert Hart Mayer, son of Mrs. T. Mayer of San Francisco and a student of the college of mines, University of California.

The bride is a daughter of J. B. Cambers, one of San José's best-known merchants, and is a graduate of Kings Conservatory. She is one of the youngest students ever graduated from that institution and has remarkable ability as a pianist. The groom will graduate from the college of mines in December.

OPENS NEW POWER PLANT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, some of whose power plants in the mountains are being operated with more or less difficulty on account of the reduced amount of water in the streams, has just put into operation its new generating plant on Deer Creek, near Nevada City, with a capacity of 2000 horse power.

This will help temporarily to prevent a shortage of electricity throughout the Sacramento Valley and bay points, as well as in the mining district. Several months ago the company realized the water supply would fall short by autumn, and many men were employed to push construction of the new Deer Creek plant. Its completion comes just at the right time to prevent serious curtailment of power and light service.

GUARDSMEN IN CAMP.

MANEUVERS BEGIN TODAY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TACOMA, Aug. 2.—All of the regular troops have arrived at Camp David B. Stanley, at American Lake, and the maneuvers to begin tomorrow will be participated in by 113 officers and 2543 enlisted men.

The Washington National Guardsmen arrived today, and the Oregon, North Dakota, Montana and Idaho militiamen will go into camp Monday. The maneuvers continue until August 31. Brig.-Gen. Brush arrived Friday and assumed command of the camp.

TRAIN KILLS BAKER.

Was Lying on Track and Engineer Could not See Him in Time to Avoid Accident.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—While lying across the track early today, Richard Krabel, an Alameda baker, was run over by a West-bound local train near the United Engineering Works at Alameda and killed.

How he came to be prostrate on the track is a mystery. Engineer Ede says the man was lying on the rails when he first noticed him. It was then too late to stop the train, although he tried to do so. Krabel was clad in a light suit of much the same color as the roadbed, and to this fact Ede attributes his failure to see the body sooner.

He may have fallen against a rail and becoming stunned, could not get off or being under the influence of liquor, gone to sleep.

STRANGE.

REVALK'S CASE IS MYSTERIOUS.

POLICE PUZZLED OVER CAUSE OF HIS DEATH.

Believe It Was Suicide, but Father and Friends Are Inclined to Think It Was Foul Play—Youth Was Despondent Over Marriage of Former Sweetheart.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Mystery surrounds the death of Vernal Revalk, the young student who succumbed early yesterday morning at the Harbor Emergency Hospital to the effects of potassium of cyanide.

The opinions of the physicians and officials who investigated the case are that Revalk committed suicide, but the father of the boy and his closest friends are inclined to think he was the victim of foul play.

It developed today that for the past three weeks he had been addicted to frozen absinthe and other drinks of an injurious character. He is said to have used them in considerable quantities. The boy was of a highly emotional temperament, and inclined to be despondent at times.

According to a report, Revalk was in love with a young woman who was married last week, and it is said the matter may have caused him to develop a despondent mood.

The police feel there is something back of the death of Revalk, and are investigating his connection with the college fraternity, some of the members of which were at the farewell party tendered him on the eve of his intended departure for the Philippines. It is known a secret meeting of the members was held yesterday morning.

Revalk wrote four letters before starting on the hack ride that ended with his death, and only one has been accounted for. That is one sent to Leland Sparks, son of the late Governor of Nevada. Young Sparks wired today that he received the letter, and left this evening for this city. Three other letters were written at a Fillmore street café.

JURY ACQUITS THEM.

Declares That Three Men on Trial at Portland for Land Frauds Are not Guilty.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 2.—Ex-Senator R. A. Booth of Eugene, his brother, James H. Booth, ex-receiver of the Land Office at Roseburg, and Thomas E. Singleton, who have been on trial for several days in the United States District Court on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government of 160 acres of public land in Douglas county, were acquitted by the jury today. The jury was out nineteen hours.

It is stated that largely because of the failure of the government to secure a conviction in the present case, following closely on the heels of the acquittal of ex-Receiver Booth on a similar charge, that the government will quash the majority of the remaining eighteen indictments, known as the "Heney indictments."

Excepted from those to be discharged are the ones against Binger Hermann, former Congressman, and ex-Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington. It is said the date of the trial of the Hermann indictments will be set this week.

It is understood F. J. Heney will come to Portland to try Mr. Hermann and prosecute in person the cases against him.

LEPER IS LOCATED.

She and Husband Found at Tombstone, Ariz., Where Authorities Are Caring for Them.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] D. K. Wardwell and his leper wife, who fled from Los Angeles on Wednesday night, have been located at Tombstone.

The pair arrived Friday, Wardwell at once asking admission for his wife to the County Hospital. Later, on order of County Physician Greene, they were moved to a tent on a near-by hill, where they will be kept till the United States authorities direct their further disposition.

Wardwell is caring affectionately for his wife, whose mind seems completely unbalanced. He is hardly equal to the task, being nearly 80 years old. The woman is much younger. Her brother, Peter Cole, lives in Tombstone, the pair coming to him after first going to Naco, apparently giving up their intention of going into Mexico.

Wardwell lived in Cochise county, around Tombstone, for twenty-five years, and served as postmaster, Justice of the Peace, deputy sheriff and member of the Legislature, being generally and affectionately known as "the war horse of the Huachuca Mountains."

FATHER'S TEAM RUNS AWAY.

Horses Attached to Ice Wagon Dash Down Street—Iceman's Daughter Badly Hurt.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Muriel McCullom, the six-year-old daughter of John McCollum, driver of an ice wagon for the San José Ice Company, was perhaps fatally injured in a spectacular runaway accident today.

While her father was delivering a cake of ice to a customer, the horses became frightened, and dashed off at a mad pace. The sight of the little child clinging to the swaying seat and calling for help was witnessed by several men, who made ineffectual attempts to head off the runaway, but it was going too fast. Attempting to turn the corner the wagon tipped over, throwing the child beneath, partially pinning her to the sidewalk. A fence saved her.

It was found she had a broken right arm, injuries about the head and body and possibly internal injuries.

Half a million sportsmen in Germany kill annually 40,000 head of red and fallow deer, 200,000 roebuck, 4,000,000 hares, 4,000,000 partridges and 400,000 wild duck, in all some 25,000,000 kilograms of wild game of a value of 25,000,000 marks, or $5,000,000, forming nearly 1 per cent. of the total meat supply of Germany.

AUTO TRAGEDY IS EXPLAINED.

Frederick Marriott Tells of Fatal Accident.

Rescued Bodies of Wife and Chauffeur Unaided.

Soft Road Gave Way Beneath Machine.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—The three surviving victims of the automobile tragedy in the Santa Cruz Mountains yesterday, in which Mrs. Frederick Marriott and Jesse Gilbert, who was acting as chauffeur, met death, arrived here today.

Miss Dorothy Partridge, although badly burned, is getting along well, and unless blood-poisoning develops, will recover. Miss Desire Marriott, aged 6 years, had her nose badly injured and was otherwise cut and bruised. Frederick Marriott, proprietor of the News Letter, was bruised and suffered from the shock.

Marriott attributes the accident to a narrow and poorly-constructed road on the summit of the Santa Cruz Mountains. Gilbert was at the wheel and the car was going at a good speed down the grade about ten miles from Los Gatos. Suddenly the soft earth on the side of the road gave way and the heavy machine plunged down an embankment, turning over twice before it struck a tree.

Mrs. Marriott was caught under the tonneau and killed instantly, her neck being broken. Gilbert lived but three minutes, being suffocated under the car.

When Miss Partridge, who was on the front seat alongside Gilbert, realized the car was going over the embankment, she tried to jump, but Gilbert seized her wrist and held her tight. She, too, was caught under the automobile and remained there for an hour and a half, suffering great agony from burning gasoline and hot water which fell from the machine. When the unfortunate young woman was finally released, Gilbert's hand still held her wrist, in the grasp of death.

Desire Marriott was pinned under the car, but was quickly rescued by her father, who had been thrown free from the wreck.

Marriott picked up a jack and lever as he struck the road, and immediately set to work to raise the car and release the others. He was horrified to find his wife and Gilbert dead, and though badly bruised himself, worked rapidly to save his daughter and Miss Partridge.

After releasing his daughter and doing what he could to alleviate the suffering of Miss Partridge, Marriott walked to a neighboring farmhouse and telephoned for medical and other assistance.

Only five minutes before the accident occurred Mrs. Marriott had exchanged seats with Miss Partridge, entering the tonneau with her husband and daughter, and allowing their guest to take the front seat.

As the car went down the embankment, Miss Partridge fell to the bottom, and to this she probably owes her life.

The remains of Mrs. Marriott and Gilbert will be brought here and will probably be cremated. Gilbert was a close friend of the Marriott family, and had traveled extensively with Marriott, Jr., who was in Los Angeles with his family when the tragedy occurred.

Funeral of Former Gov. Budd at Stockton Attended by Many Distinguished Men.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

STOCKTON, Aug. 2.—The funeral of former Gov. James H. Budd took place this morning from the late residence of the deceased, Rev. R. H. Sink of the First Congregational Church, officiating.

Gov. Gillett and staff and other State officials were present, and the floral offerings were very numerous and beautiful. The pallbearers were former Lieut.-Gov. W. T. Jeter, Attorney Frank Gould, Frank Drew, Joseph Byrne, Jr.; Attorney A. V. Scanlan and Attorney E. R. Thompson. The casket was placed in the receiving vault at Rural Cemetery.

The attendance was very large, and the bar association attended in a body.

TWO SUCCESSFUL ROBBERS ARE CAUGHT IN MICHIGAN.

Men Who Have Stolen $50,000 from Postoffices in Last Ten Years Are Overtaken by Inspectors and Big Booty Recovered—Stumbled Onto Camp, but Were Quick With Guns.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the point of drawn revolvers and after a chase of two weeks, Postoffice Inspectors Frasier and Clark yesterday arrested two postoffice thieves in their camp in the Northern Michigan woods. They recovered more than $10,000 worth of stamps and postal orders.

The bandits are George Ross and Frank Roach, and they have terrorized Northern Michigan for ten years. Most of their postoffice robberies have been committed in broad daylight. It is estimated they have stolen $50,000 from postoffices alone in the last ten years.

Chief Inspector Stuart of Chicago sent Clark and Frasier after the bandits two weeks ago. While the inspectors were searching the woods for the desperadoes, the postoffice at Kipling, Mich., was entered in daylight and all the stamps and money in the office taken. Clark and Frasier arrived there a few hours after the robbery, securing horses and following the bandits. The inspectors accidentally stumbled on the robbers' camp a few miles from Escanaba, Mich. Before either of the desperadoes could reach for their weapons the government officers had them covered with their revolvers.

DEMAND MORE CONCESSIONS.

YOUNG TURKS WANT THEM OR ABDICATION.

Send Delegates from Macedonia on Mission of Vexatious Character. If Sultan Refuses to Yield, Will Demand That He Give up Throne to Prince Izzeddin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to news received here from private sources in Constantinople the delegate from the Young Turks in Macedonia who arrived last night in the Turkish capital is entrusted with the mission of demanding from the Sultan further concessions of a vexatious character.

It is asserted that in the event of refusal the delegate in question will demand the abdication of Abdul Hamid, and that as successor to the throne, Prince Izzeddin, eldest son of the late Sultan Abdul Aziz will be named.

Koutchouk Said Pasha has been asked to go to Salonica, at present the virtual capital of Macedonia, in order to explain the new political creed. Should he refuse, he will be requested to resign.

It is now evident that at present Turkey is governed de facto by the Macedonian committee of the Young Turk party, bitterly hostile to the Sultan.

JULY DEFICIT IS HEAVY.

Government Report Shows It to Be More Than Double That of Last Year.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The monthly statement of the government receipts and expenditures shows that for July, 1908, the total receipts were $52,170,000, and expenditures $77,038,000, leaving a deficit for the month of $24,868,000, as against a deficit for July, 1907, of $10,901,534.

This month's deficit would have been over $30,000,000 but for the payment and discharge of the Central Pacific Railroad's indebtedness to the government, which during July amounted to about $5,500,000.

During July, 1908, the receipts from customs aggregated over $8,000,000 less than for July, 1907, and internal revenues about $1,000,000 less.

As to expenditures, those on account of the civil and miscellaneous items were $20,600,000, or over $6,000,000 greater than for July, 1907. On account of war, the payments aggregated $18,074,000, or nearly $4,000,000 in excess of July last year.

The navy payments were about the same as for July, 1907, being about $9,273,000.

Public works showed a falling off of something over $1,000,000.

WIRELESS SETTLES STRIKE.

System Is Called Into Requisition in Completing Settlement of Seamen's Trouble.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Wireless telegraphy was called into requisition today to settle a strike.

This, it is said, is the first time in history for such a feat. It was imperative that the committees on shore, who had settled the strike, should get into communication with the captain of the steamship Theodore Roosevelt, then in the middle of Lake Michigan, and apprise him of the action, and have him verify the settlement before his ship touched port, in order to avoid trouble. He was finally picked up by wireless, and the negotiations were completed.

His seamen and firemen were instructed by the same method to stand by the ship, and the passengers were saved from trouble at the docks on the other side and possible marooning on the sand dunes at Michigan City.

SUCH A RUSH!

ALL FLIT TO COOL SPOTS.

Cars Carry Biggest Crowds Since Fleet Week.

Thousands Visit Mountain and Ocean Resorts.

Arizonans Find Los Angeles Almost Chilly.

Practically all of Los Angeles that had not already gone to the mountains or the seashore, and that failed to get away Saturday, flung a clean collar into a suit case early yesterday morning and got somewhere. The trolley roads had the biggest jam since fleet week, and on all the lines to the beaches there was almost a continuous string of cars. From 12 o'clock to 2 the rush was greatest and hundreds of persons were obliged to wait long at the various stations or to give up their projected trips because of the impossibility of finding room in the cars.

It was not so hot yesterday as on Friday and Saturday. The maximum temperature was only 82, as compared with ten degrees higher on the previous two days. But people thought more about the weather, probably, because they had plenty of time to think. Those who didn't think about the heat thought, taking it by and large, and glancing over the reports of death and sunstroke in the East, that it was a pretty fine day, after all.

FANNED BY OCEAN BREEZES.

The largest crowd thronged the Long Beach and other seaside resorts. Hundreds sported in the surf. About fifty swimmers disregarded rules at Long Beach and swam beyond the breaker line. The lifeguards had to go after fifteen of them, who became exhausted. All were brought to shore safely. The surf was rather high, but not strong.

Saturday and Sunday were record days for Hotel Virginia, Long Beach. Over 1000 guests dined Saturday evening, the spacious dining-room being crowded from 6 until 10 o'clock. Before 7 o'clock the arrivals who had not secured their seats in advance were unable to get accommodations. While there were many tennis enthusiasts, many others came to remain for the season.

The crowd that enjoyed itself basking on the sands at Ocean Park was probably the largest one of the season at that resort. There were bathers by the thousand, from Santa Monica and the cañon on the north to Venice and Playa del Rey to the south, and all of the bath establishments did a record-breaking business. The beach and the broad promenade along the ocean front were crowded throughout the day, and . . all of the by streets there were long lines of waiting automobiles. While the heat was not oppressive, it was one of the warmest days of the summer.

There were band concerts during the afternoon and evening at Pier avenue and Venice, and at both places the dancing pavilions were filled with lovers of the terpsichorean art. The cocoanaires all did an immense business.

MOUNTAIN RESORTS FULL.

From the mountain resorts in every direction come reports of crowds. Many of the big camps are filled to their capacity, and up where the winds blow constantly in the tree tops and the waters babble down over the rocks, the resorters know little of the warm spell below. From some of the camps in the San Bernardino range it was reported yesterday that accommodations could be afforded only for those who engaged them in advance.

The intense heat of the desert country has driven hundreds of ranchers and business men to Los Angeles. The downtown hotels have many Arizona people registered and the managers report that many reservations have been made for the coming weeks.

Although Los Angeles has seemed hot to its residents during the last three days, to Arizonans it was delightfully cool and refreshing after a temperature of from 110 to 120 deg.

ARIZONANS THERMOMETERS.

"One hundred Arizonans are registered here," remarked Charles D. Smead, chief clerk of the Hollenbeck, yesterday. "About thirty of this number arrived today. I never require any weather report conditions in the Southwest. I can tell when it is hot there by the arrivals from that section. Although the mercury climbs pretty high in Arizona, the old residents never complain about heat. But they like to come to Los Angeles for a few weeks and hundreds own cottages at the beaches."

QUICK WIT SAVES LIFE.

Prompt Work Restores Boy Apparently Drowned in Deep Water at Bimini Baths.

That Edward Hoffman, 17 years old, was not drowned yesterday afternoon at Bimini Baths is due to the presence of mind of the bath-house managers and a number of bathers. Hoffman fell or was thrown into deep water, and was unable to help himself. He sank to the bottom of the pool and was almost dead when rescued.

Though his lungs were filled with water, and he seemed apparently dead, respiration was restored by vigorously working his arms and by rubbing his chest, forcing the water from his lungs.

As soon as it became known that Hoffman was under water a telephone call was sent for the University police patrol automobile. The big car made a record run to the west end of the city, and Hoffman was taken through the streets at almost a mile-a-minute clip to the Receiving Hospital. On his arrival there the physicians completed the work which had been so well begun at the baths, and Hoffman's life was saved.

The young man is an orphan and resides with a friend, Tiiano Arallano, at No. 716 New High street. Arallano was with Hoffman at the baths. He said Hoffman was pushed into the water by rowdies.

GROOM KEPT AT TELEPHONE.

Congratulatory Messages for Nevada Millionaire and Bride Who Are Now Here.

George Wingfield, a wealthy mining man of Goldfield, and his bride, formerly Miss Maud Murdock of San Francisco, arrived from the North, yesterday afternoon, and went at once to the Alexandria, where a luxurious suite had been reserved by telegraph.

The young Nevada millionaire is well known here and was kept busy receiving telephone messages of congratulation. "We shall pass a few days at Catalina and probably include Coronado in our itinerary," he said, yesterday. "We may take a trip abroad later, but I have considerable business to attend to in connection with the Consolidated mines at Goldfield."

TOASTS IN THREE TONGUES.

A dinner was given at the Delmonico Restaurant, Saturday, in honor of the wedding of J. Raygose of Avalon, and Miss Leontine Pouyet of this city. Toasts were given in English, Spanish and French. Among the speakers were Attorney W. S. Wright of Pasadena, Dr. Emma M. Carson and Frank Puisseyur, a relative of the bride. At the close of the banquet, the young couple, as they boarded a car for San Pedro, were showered with rice. An enthusiastic welcome was accorded Mr. and Mrs. Raygose upon their arrival at Catalina.

Human Ashes for Tooth Powder.

Three suicides in Milwaukee in one day is the record for some time past. Two of the victims left unusual requests. One, a crippled bootblack named Walter Barnes, left a note addressed to a local physician requesting that his body be dissected in order to ascertain what was the matter with his legs.

R. Schults, whose body was found hanging in the woods, left this request: "I wish to be cremated and hereby will my ashes to Miss Meta Guetner, 613 Twenty-second street, who can use them for tooth powder."

SECRET OUT.

FORMER OFFICER IN RUSSIAN ARMY WEDS.

The von Reutlingers.

Popular young foreigner and his bride, formerly Miss Gertrude MacCurdy, who were quietly wed, taking their friends by surprise.

STEALING a march on their friends, Miss Gertrude MacCurdy and Robert Ludwig von Reutlinger went to the parsonage of Rev. Will A. Knighton Saturday afternoon and were married. So much of a secret was the whole affair kept that not an inkling of it leaked out until they were well on their way to Catalina. Orin Wakefield acted in the dual capacity of best man and witness.

Mrs. von Reutlinger is a beautiful young woman with a host of admirers, and yesterday when she and her husband returned to town, the happy groom was the recipient of hearty congratulations.

Mr. von Reutlinger is a Russian by birth and a member of an ancient and noble family. During the Japanese War he served as a lieutenant in the Russian army, taking part in some of the bloodiest battles. He was made prisoner and after securing his release at the close of the hostilities, came to America to make his home. He has delivered several lectures on the war.

Mr. and Mrs. von Reutlinger will live in this city, for the time being at least.

YOUNG SOLDIER WHO WILL WED SOUTHERN GIRL.

Lieut. Adna R. Chaffee of the Fifteenth Cavalry, son of Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, U.S.A., retired, of Los Angeles, whose engagement to a Georgia belle has just been announced.

The announcement of the engagement of Lieut. Adna R. Chaffee, U.S. A., contained in a special dispatch from Atlanta, Ga., printed in The Times yesterday, was no surprise to his parents, Gen. and Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee of this city. They have known for nearly a year that the young soldier and Miss Ethel Warren Huff were planning to wed, and the match long ago had parental approval on both sides. It was stated yesterday by members of the lieutenant's family that the wedding probably will not take place before next year.

Lieut. Chaffee, who is 24 years old, was graduated from West Point two years ago and now is with the Fifteenth Cavalry. Miss Huff, who sometimes has been called Miss Dodson, the name of her foster-father, is a winsome girl of the true southern type, her home being at Cornelia, Ga. She and Lieut. Chaffee met at the army maneuvers at Fort Riley, Kan., last ——

FACT OR FANCY?

DAZED PROSPECTOR'S TALE OF BIG RICHES.

Old Miner Who Says He Sold Valuable Property for Large Sum Is Picked Up Penniless, With Hazy Notion of Where Money Went.

DAVID SCHWARTZ, a prospector who claims to have just sold a mine in Death Valley for $168,000, was picked up by the police on the streets yesterday, penniless, and in a dazed condition. He appeared to be suffering from the effect of drugs. When taken to the Receiving Hospital he told the physicians a peculiar story of immense riches that have just come to him through the sale of a mine.

According to Schwartz, he came to Los Angeles to close the big deal. He says he has $68,000 on deposit in the National Bank of Commerce in this city. The deal, he said, was negotiated through D. M. Hilliard, who, he said, has offices on the second floor of the Douglas building. He said Hilliard had claimed to be the Los Angeles representative of the Old Dominion Copper Company.

The miner said he had been given a certified check for $68,000 by Hilliard, and that he had been identified at the bank where he deposited the money, by an official of one of the local Odd Fellow lodges. He could not remember the name of the lodge officer.

Manager Mitchell of the Hollenbeck, who is acquainted at Globe, called on Schwartz in the hospital and found that the miner knows many prominent men in that place. Schwartz told Mitchell the story of the mining deal.

MYSTERIOUS STRANGER.

Schwartz was released from the Receiving Hospital last night. Five minutes after he had gone, a man who gave the name of Hilliard telephoned Ralph Storey at the City Jail and said he is a director of the National Bank of Commerce, and declared that Schwartz has a large bank account there. He asked that Schwartz be looked after, as he said the man is not able to care for himself. He wanted the police to send Schwartz to a private hospital, and offered to pay the bill. Hilliard did not give his initials or his address.

President Frank M. Douglas of the National Bank of Commerce stated last night that there is no one by the name of Hilliard connected with his bank, either as a director or stockholder. He said that he has no depositor by the name of David Schwartz. The bank official said he would have been consulted had anybody deposited $68,000 in his bank on Saturday. He knew of no such transaction.

There is no such name as D. M. Hilliard in the city directory. The man is not listed in the telephone directories, and there is no such name on the register of any leading hotel in the city.

To the hospital surgeons, Schwartz told the strange story of the discovery and alleged sale of the wonderful mine. He said that before leaving Globe seven days ago he had deposited $100,000 in the First National Bank there through the president, who, he said, is J. N. Porter. He declared the claim is worth more than he received for it, but said he is anxious to go back to Detroit, Mich., to his mother, that he may care for her in her declining years.

LIKE "SCOTTY" YARN.

The story told by the miner is equal to some of "Scotty's" famous yarns. He says his claim is about sixty miles from Scott's supposed mine in the Funeral range, on the California side of the State line. He ran across it by accident, he says, and was three months working his way to Globe after having located the rich strike.

With two burros, Schwartz says he began prospecting in the most dangerous portion of Death Valley, where white men had never gone before, and in places that even the Indians shun.

Worn out, he stopped at noon one day, and after a rest began to pan out what appeared to be a good prospect. He says he panned $300 in about three hours. He located the mine, and then returned to Rano. He made other trips after having secured the claim.

On a recent trip Schwartz says he went with the burros to the mine for the purpose of getting as much of the richest ore as he could carry. He collected $710 worth and left for Globe. The story of his awful journey across the fiery sands with that load was told by the miner as he lay on a cot at the Receiving Hospital. Even as he spoke of his sufferings his mind wandered.

THIRST KILLS BURROS.

After suffering hardships which probably would have killed any other man, he said he reached the edge of Death Valley, losing both burros on the way. The first died of thirst at 6 o'clock one evening. The other gave up the struggle at 3 o'clock the following morning.

"A pail of water would have saved them both," said the miner.

Then Schwartz declares he packed his gold on his back, and with his canteen only half filled with water resumed his journey. He reached Globe almost exhausted.

There he told the story of his remarkable find. He says moneyed men became interested and he asserts he took a party by way of Benson to his mine. As a result of that journey, he declares, he sold his claim for $168,000.

Then he came to Los Angeles, only to lose his mind as the result of the severe strain which he had undergone.

How much of his story is only the creation of his weakened brain no one can say. He is known to bankers and others in Globe, but he has no acquaintance here.

Some time ago Schwartz was the victim of a serious accident in which he suffered a severe fracture of the skull. As a result of a trephining operation a plate was placed over the broken bone. While riding one of the burros on his perilous trip he was thrown and the plate was dented, and the physicians say this pressure on the brain has affected his mind seriously.

prospector who was found penniless and dazed on the streets and who told strange tale of sale of mine at big price, with proceeds in bank he fails to locate accurately.

A Wet Day.

"Depressing sort of day, this," said the guest at the small hotel, sitting down to breakfast.

"Yes, sir," said the waiter. "Even the milk, you will notice, has got the blues badly."—[Tit-Bits.

TWO MEN SHOT AT RANDSBURG.

Miners' Dispute Ends in Fatal Quarrel.

Claim Jumping Said to Have Been the Cause.

M. S. Tarkington, One of the Victims, an Angeleno.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RANDSBURG, Aug. 2.—A double tragedy in which two men were shot, one being killed, the other dangerously wounded, occurred six miles west of Garden Station this forenoon. This is the story brought by J. N. Witt, who did the shooting.

There had been some difficulty over the jumping of a claim by Cheeseborough and Witt. The claim was owned by M. S. Tarkington and Bradford Peck, Jr. Peck was on an adjoining claim of his own and Witt says he was living in his own house with his family and was just preparing to go camping to the mountains this morning, when Peck and Tarkington came into his yard and begun to drive a stake.

He ordered them off and went toward them, carrying a Winchester rifle. When within a dozen feet of Peck, he shot him through the heart, and then turned the gun on Tarkington, shooting him through the face and neck. Tarkington begged him not to shoot again and got to his feet, starting for a railroad camp several miles away.

Word was received afterwards that he reached there fainting as he arrived and it is thought he was mortally wounded. His family lives in Tulare and Peck's father lives in Fresno. Witt brought his family to Johannesburg and came over and gave himself up. Tarkington left Randsburg last evening, and when going away said he was determined to avoid trouble. He is quite a prominent man, an old soldier, and a member of Al Malaikah Shrine at Los Angeles. This is the story as given by Witt, there being no witnesses except his own family.

WASHINGTON TARRING CRIME PUZZLES DETECTIVES.

Intimate There Is Another Woman in Case—Mrs. Charles Marthison Supposedly the One, Has Completely Disappeared—Is Said to Be Unmarried.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The mystery accompanying the tarring and feathering of F. E. Bliss, Jr., a Washington business man, at the home of Charles Marthison in an exclusive residential section, deepens the more the detectives seek to solve it.

Mrs. Charles Marthison supposedly the woman in the case, has disappeared from the ken of her neighbors. From some of Bliss's friends has come the insinuation that she is not the female star at all. Yet J. W. Albrecht, Bliss's partner, insists that Bliss told him he intended to marry Mrs. Marthison, and that a wedding ring was returned to Bliss Wednesday evening before the beating and tarring.

Albrecht also claims that Bliss told him that he had an important letter in which the assertion was made that Mrs. Marthison was not married.

From detective headquarters come intimations that there is another woman in the case, who will be produced at the trial of the supposed Mrs. Marthison refuses to testify, there is no way to compel her, unless it can be proved that she is not married to Marthison.

It was learned today that Bliss was arrested shortly after 12 o'clock Monday night, forty-eight hours before the affair, for exceeding the speed limit with Marthison's electric runabout.

Newberg attended the party, and, after dancing with the girl, left the hall. EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert Campbell, the attorney of Jackson, Mich., who was arrested here last evening while in the company of Miss Henrietta Brown, an actress, was committed to prison by Magistrate Deaton, at the Central Police Station today, to await requisition papers from his native town, on a charge of embezzling money and for non-support and desertion of his wife and four children.

He is one of the prominent young attorneys of Jackson and had practiced for years as a partner of Judge James A. Parkinson until the judge was re-elected two years ago. This firm had the confidence of the people and Campbell was the trusted agent for many money lenders, especially women. He was known to be living rapidly, though the head of a household which was a most respected one, consisting of his wife and several bright children.

The first warrant was for embezzlement of $400. This led to an investigation which showed that his misappropriations amount to $15,000.

CADETS MAY BE EXPELLED.

PRESIDENT'S REINSTATEMENT DOES NOT COUNT.

He Had no Authority to Act in Their Case, and It Is Now Exactly in Position It Was Before He Did so—Secretary of War Alone Has Power.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although probably out of danger as a matter of fact, theoretically the eight West Point cadets are still subject to dismissal on a charge of hazing.

The back pedaling done at Oyster Bay simply took President Roosevelt out of a very deep hole into which Assistant Secretary Robert Shaw Oliver invited him to step when he forwarded the papers in the hazing case to Oyster Bay.

As figured here, President Roosevelt jumped to the conclusion that the question of whether the young men should or should not be dismissed had to be decided by him. As a matter of cold hard law fact, the question was for the exclusive consideration of the Secretary of War.

President Roosevelt, however, acting on the assumption that Assistant Secretary Oliver followed the routine when he forwarded the papers to Oyster Bay, approved the finding of the academy authorities, which was that the cadets were guilty of hazing.

Luke E. Wright, one of the best lawyers in the Southern States, saw wherein the President had made a false step. He simply would not issue the order dismissing the cadets. Instead, he went to Oyster Bay and convinced the President that his position was untenable. Then the President announced that the cadets had been "reinstated" subject to disciplinary action at the academy.

The truth is, the cadets never were out of the service, because Secretary Wright refused to recognize the ultra vires act of the President. He did nothing, because he had had no opportunity to pass upon the report of the academic authorities. The legal status of the whole matter is exactly what it was before the President presumed to act.

Gov. Hughes announced from Saranac, N. Y., at the request of acting Dist.-Atty. Robert H. The extraordinary term, it is understood, will be devoted wholly to hearing the race-track betting cases.

OMINOUS.

WAR CLOUDS SWEEP LOW.

Teuton and Briton Drifting Conflict Is Feared.

Clash Between Two Countries Seems Inevitable.

Kaiser Said to Be Responsible for Situation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is now the solemn conviction even of the most pacifically inclined members of the Asquith government, that England and Germany are drifting with increasing rapidity toward war.

The speeches this week of Foreign Secretary Grey and Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George, in the view of this undoubted fact, are full of tragic significance. They do not want war, and probably will resign rather than undertake it, but, owing to the pernicious influences at work, both in this country and Germany, especially the press influences, they feel war is inevitable.

The German and the English jingoes are playing into each other's hands. When Lord Cromer stated in the House of Lords the other day that England should apply her financial resources to perfecting her armaments in view of the European conflict in which the country would be engaged in a couple of years instead of providing old-age pensions, he spoke with entire deliberation.

Lloyd George's specific singling out of Germany as the center of hostility to England, and his appeals to Germans to realize the madness and criminality of war, prove how serious are the apprehensions.

Minister Grey's speech was also directed toward allaying German animosity and her fears of Entente's policy in coming to good understandings with other nations. The Radicals, who hate war, and whose whole energies are being directed to prevent it, now fear it cannot be averted.

Count Wolff Metternich, the German Ambassador to Great Britain, is responsible for convincing the Radicals that the Kaiser has no wish to secure friendly understanding with England. It is now common talk in ministerial circles that if the Kaiser permits Ambassador Metternich to remain here it can only be with the purpose of provoking an outbreak.

SOCIAL EQUALITY.

WHITE GIRLS MARRY NEGROES

SISTERS ON TRIAL IN MISSISSIPPI FOR ILLEGAL PRACTICE.

One Husband Sold Himself Into Life Slavery to Father-in-Law, the Other Promised One Bale of Cotton Yearly for Privilege of Having Fair-Skinned Wives.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORT GIBSON (Miss.) Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most remarkable case of social equality practiced in Mississippi has been brought to light by the trial of Thomas Turner and Riley Wheat, negroes, 20 years old, on the charge of being unlawfully married to two white girls—Ollie Parker, 16, and her sister, Nannie Parker, 13.

The evidence at the trial showed that George D. Parker, father of the white girls, had discovered the intimacy between Turner and his daughter, Ollie, and had compromised with the negro on condition that he would bind himself to labor the remainder of his days for him without pay. The negro agreed and was performing his part of the contract faithfully.

It also was shown that Parker had discovered that his other daughter, Nannie, was intimate with another negro, and compromised with the negro on condition that he would give Parker one bale of cotton from his crop each year.

During the progress of the trial today a rush was made for the two negroes, by spectators in the court-room, but no one was hurt. A deputy sheriff spirited the negroes away. The two girls, charged with unlawful practice of social equality, are in jail waiting trial which has been fixed for next week, and a warrant has been issued for Parker.

PRICE OF MAID'S SMILE.

HIS TOES SHOT OFF BY JEALOUS LOVER.

BECAUSE pretty Ines Bellardo of Calabasas smilingly promised to get Desidaro Olivera a glass of water yesterday afternoon, the young man lies dangerously wounded on a cot at the Hospital of the Good Samaritan. All the toes of his left foot were shot away and the foot may have to be amputated today to prevent blood poisoning.

When the schoolhouse at Calabasas caught fire yesterday Olivera was one of the first to respond to the alarm. He worked hard to save the little building. In the crowd that gathered was Miss Bellardo, who watched with admiration the young man's battle with the flames.

Charles Garcia, her lover, accompanied Miss Bellardo and after the flames had been extinguished, took her home and sat with her on the front porch.

Soon Olivera appeared and asked for a drink of water. Miss Ines beamed upon him, and Garcia looked darkly on.

When the charming maid tripped away to get the water, Garcia is said to have picked up a shotgun and remarked:

"What do you want around here? Guess I'll begin by shooting your feet off."

There was a report and Olivera, with a cry of pain, sank to the ground. Garcia fled. He is supposed to be in hiding in the foothills near Calabasas and a party will search for him today.

FOR PRESIDENT. TAFT AND SHERMAN. FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Editorial Pen Points

Apparently it is the ambition of Indiana to be the mother of Vice-Presidents.

In making Turkey a free country it seems that Abdul Hamid also made a free man of himself.

The American national game is supposed to be either baseball or poker. But it is neither. It is politics.

God help the poor settlers of the Canadian Northwest! Who can but say a prayer for the children and the babies?

Los Angeles takes her pleasures sanely. She goes to church on Sunday morning and spends the afternoon at the beaches.

It must sound good to the Sultan's ears to hear the cheers of the people flinging his name with exultation from mouth to mouth.

It is said that Argentina is filled with millionaires. It also appears to have a few ants that we could thank her to keep at home.

Advices from Constantinople are yet too incomplete to make it clear as to whether or not the Sultan's harem will follow the constitution.

This is the last month of summer, although, as far as Southern California is concerned, summer is more a question of the calendar than anything else.

Mr. Bryan started out to be a candidate for President of the United States purely on his nerve, in the first place. He is still a candidate on the same plea.

The materialists have been working for thousands of years, but there are still in the world just as many people who believe in ghosts as there ever were.

It is better to sleep unarmed in your house than to get up in the night and shoot holes in a $500 mirror under the delusion that you are firing at a burglar.

Philadelphia is certainly slow. Just at about the time aërial navigation is coming into practice the Baker City spends $25,000,000 on underground railways.

There is now every reason to believe that, unless there be treachery, Los Angeles county's majority for Taft will exceed the majority given for Roosevelt.

Lots of the members of labor unions who might have voted for Bryan will not now do so because they do not desire to appear as the chattels of Sam Gompers.

The Argentine ant peril and the yellow peril being no longer in menacing attitudes, the country is quite free to give its undivided attention to the Bryan peril.

John Temple Graves, who comes from down South somewhere, calls Bryan "the despot of Democracy." The point with Bryan is to be called something, right along.

It will soon come to pass that a man will no longer be able to say that he lives between Los Angeles and the sea, for the reason that there will be no such place.

Somehow or other we have failed to notice that the socialists have ever formed a community on a big farm where the owner needed harvest hands to get the crop in.

France gives signs of an impending moral revolution. It would be just like her to suddenly emerge from immoralities to a religious frenzy. She has done it before.

Among the most common sights of the near future will be the pleasure balloons of the idle rich, the near rich and the would-be rich crowding the circumambient atmosphere.

Kansas has one county that has never issued bonds. It is probably one of those counties that a man hates to look at when he is riding through Kansas on a railway train.

This is one of those years when all parts of the country should be in sympathy with one another. A whole new Congress, with the exception of some hold-over Senators, is to be elected.

They tell us that Los Angeles has an unusual amount of water on hand; but nobody would ever suspect it from the dusty and unsprinkled condition of the streets in some parts of this town.

Sam Gompers wants every member of the labor unions to vote for Bryan. If the members of the unions took Sam's advice Mr. Bryan would still be short a few votes of the necessary number.

A hunter recently returned from Africa, saying he had to carry 900 pounds 300 miles on foot, and that he met white ant hills ten feet high. But perhaps he is only trying to scare Mr. Roosevelt.

It is an interesting sign of the times that seven cities in Great Britain are contending for the honor of having been the first to grow the Virginia potato introduced into that country by Sir Walter Raleigh.

The news from the Bosporus would appear to warrant a new edition of the Arabian Nights, revised to include the latest strange story of Abdul Hamid walking the streets of Constantinople as a common man.

THE PROFESSOR BEGS THE QUESTION.

Perhaps the learned professor of the University of Chicago is in part right as to the miraculous stories told in the scriptures, especially some of those in the Old Testament. They were traditions handed down from one generation to another for hundreds of years before being reduced to their present shape, edited and collected into one system of revelation after the return from the Babylonian captivity.

But when Prof. Willett asserts so positively that "no man ever lived who could perform a miracle" he makes an assertion which should be well sustained when made. The argument used in this case is not conclusive at all. To say that "you cannot teach children in school of the unchangeable laws of nature and then teach them in Sunday-school that these laws are at times broken by God or His prophets" will not satisfy any free thinker.

First the expression is loose. Prof. Willett should have said "you should not," etc., for as a matter of fact we can and do so teach, and have so taught for long centuries, and will so teach for centuries to come.

But waiving all that, his argument is not conclusive. It is begging the question. It is merely the old woman's reason, "because." It says "no one can work a miracle—because he can't." It is David Hume's argument against miracles a century old, and yet in spite of it the conflicting teaching goes right on.

The assumption is too much. It assumes that we know perfectly the laws of nature and all their relations. As a matter of fact, every time you lift your foot from the ground, or remove a particle of matter from its place, you do suspend a law of nature, as we call it, the law of gravitation. We apply a force greater than the law exerts and suspend for the time being the operation of the law in this given case.

Science teaches—at least some scientific people teach—the doctrine of evolution by which the species were brought into being. So far as we know this law has been suspended, temporarily if not for ever.

For all practical purposes the laws of nature are unchangeable by human power, and so much the worse for the mortal who fails to grasp this general truth. But assuming, as Prof. Willett does, that these laws of nature are the laws of God, why cannot the maker of the laws suspend them or modify them?

In fact, science is presumptuous in assuming that it knows anything finally, or that anything in this world of change is unchangeable.

At the root the scientific student takes quite as much on faith as the theological student. There is not a fundamental working theory in science, either the atomic, that of gravitation or that of evolution, which is susceptible of demonstration. They are simply working theories, tentative and accepted by faith.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.

Laborers are strongly organized in France. French working people are much less educated than native-born American wage-earners. They are deeply tinged with loose socialistic views. Their demands are extreme, many of them impossible because economically impracticable.

French politicians have been lenient in dealing with labor troubles in which the laws have been violated. They have been criminally weak in yielding to the impracticable and unjust demands of these people. Mr. Clemenceau particularly has been given to pandering to the working people for the sake of their support on election days.

But the limit has been reached—a point where the demands of the General Federation of Labor cannot be granted. Not only do the laws of France forbid this, but the laws of political economy, which no politician can abrogate or suspend, forbid it. The laboring men are not learned in the laws of France or of political economy, and they have become so accustomed to get what they ask for that they think the government is all but omnipotent in this respect, and hold the government to account for all they fail to get.

Now the politicians can straddle no further nor can they dodge the issues. Denied their demands, the men are on strike, and the strike is accompanied by gross violence.

The limit has turned into a débacle and violent measures must be met by violence.

The military authorities were appealed to and the rioters were shot down. The soldiers are the kin of the men on strike. So far the troops have been faithful to their oath and have done their duty. But suppose sympathy gets the upper hand of an oath and of the duty it imposes, what then? There would be a revolution as wide as the republic, and the worst excesses of the Reign of Terror would be possible.

How much better it had been for those in authority, those who knew the laws of France and understood the laws of political economy, to have stood for principles, right and justice in the first place and given the people to understand that their demands were impossible, impracticable and wrong. This would have duly impressed the minds of the people and forced them to study the question. Weakness led the people blindly on and now at last the right course is forced on the authorities; but the misguided populace reap the whirlwind of repression as a result of the wind of weak politics sowed by those more intent on office than on the real interests of the people.

The situation in France is worthy of careful study that similar misleadings do not lead to similar suffering on the part of our people.

OWES MUCH TO HIS ENEMIES.

Joseph Chamberlain, the last of the great home-rule protagonists, is again reported to be on his deathbed. His relatives once more declare that the published accounts of his illness are exaggerated. Making due allowance for the wish that is father to the thought, discounting also the alarmist statements of the London halfpenny press, it must be admitted, sadly enough, that Chamberlain's work is done. The vigor has dropped from "Pushful Joe." It is sorrowful to see a leader laid low just at the moment his party needs him the most. Birmingham's "Good old Joey," remarkable as has been his career, had hardly begun the work of his life before sickness laid a heavy hand upon him.

Chamberlain's life story proves how much a man can owe to his enemies. In his time he was the most maligned man in the United Kingdom, Gladstone not excepted. He thrived on it, and while he grew to greatness he did not forget to hit back and hard. Joe Chamberlain never turned the other cheek. And yet this man who was called "Judas" by the Irish members, "traitor" by the Liberals, and "fiend" by political writers who hated him and sought to misrepresent him before the public, was really an apostle of peace, generosity and conciliation. His Boer War record amply proves this.

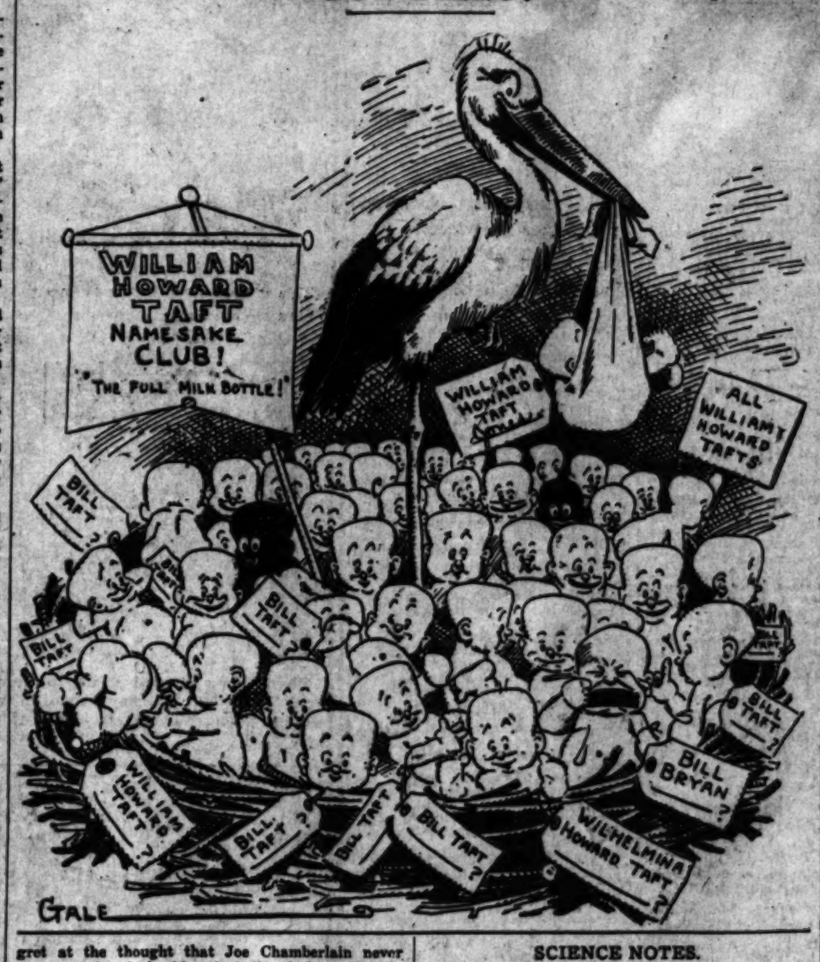
Boldness marked Mr. Chamberlain's actions from the early days when he attended debating society meetings in Birmingham till when, at the head of the Colonial Office, during the trouble in South Africa, he told Germany to mind her own business. His ringing and defiant language at that time did much to prevent a general European broil.

Chamberlain lived a romance—a romance of hard work. He gave freely to his country his great brain and his wondrous power of debate. He placed the British Empire before everything else, even his home—the ideal and charming retreat made for him by his American wife, whose name he never failed to associate with his success.

Today, when leaden news comes from that home, Englishmen all over the world are filled with regret at the thought that Joe Chamberlain never more can tread the historic halls of St. Stephen's, will never more rouse to enthusiasm vast audiences and has been robbed of the opportunity to carry on his protectionist campaign in the land of free trade.

Now that, whether he recovers or not, the political arena is barred to him, the old-time conflicts are forgotten, the animosities aroused by home rule, the Boer War and other prominent public questions are buried. Chamberlain is remembered as a bold, honest and unselfish statesman. He could ask for no better epitaph than this tribute from a Birmingham constituent: "He is a man of sterling integrity, honorable and scrupulous to a degree; a loving husband, a chivalrous friend, a wise counselor, a trusty leader, absolutely fearless in the discharge of duty and unswerving in his devotion to that which is true."

"DUE BILLS!"



NO RISE IN FREIGHT RATES.

The eastern railroads which have been seeking to put freight rates up to keep them out of the hands of receivers will have to seek some other aid, or let the receivers get the jobs.

The railroad managers are much divided on the subject, and that handicapped the contention from the start. Some weeks ago Mr. Stubbs of the Harriman lines said there would be no rise in rates if the public opposed the rise. That was a complete surrender. As a matter of fact the western roads did not want any change and this probably lay at the root of Mr. Stubbs's outgiving.

Not only did the public oppose the increase in rates, but the government manifested a decided hostility. And so the whole subject is about ready to drop.

The reason the western roads differed from the eastern is due to the difference in conditions in the two sections of the country. Eastern roads lost so much business that they were in sore straits. Western roads lost so little that they could weather the storm. To raise the rates would be to curtail business and this would cause the western roads to lose more than they would gain.

The published earnings of the Southern Pacific system show that this western road is not embarrassed, and the purchase of so many new freight cars by the Northwestern road out of Chicago last week shows where that line stands. All the western roads are doing well.

THE SOUL OF THE MOON.

Sometimes awaking in the long night hours,
I feel the city too oppressing near—
The walls that crowd, the somber darkling roofs,
The prisoning of serried rank and file,
Souls tumbled into cells, with no regard
For yearning aptitudes and pent desires.

On such a night, when clanging in my ears
The noises of the city held unrest,
I fancied how 'twould be to lay me down
At the foot of the moon-shrine, on the sweet earth,
Far in the quiet of the dreaming hills.

How soft would flow the genii of the clouds!
How great the gods of mountains would appear!
What color of the night would fold me round—
Impalpable and fragrant—where pale flowers
Exhaling warm and humid essences
Bring mystical emotions to the heart!

Ah, but to sense the infinite power of vast
Ensphering spaces, to be lost
In mists of moonlight, and to blend with all
The spirit of freedom of the unbounded air!
With what abandon I would deeply breathe,
My arms outspread, great sighs of happiness,
Feeling the winds' caress upon my warmth,
And fall asleep with blessing of the stars.

RUBY ARCHER.

What Do the Southerners Care?

We still fear, notwithstanding our own resolute purpose to do tireless work for the election of Mr. Bryan, that the enthusiasm for him in this State is as thin as it is wide, and we are not sanguine that even $25,000 will be raised for his assistance. . . . Presuming that there are 80,000 Bryanites in South Carolina, we dare predict that they will not contribute an aggregate of $4000 to the election of Mr. Bryan, which is to say that they do not care a glass of soda water or a 5-cent cigar each whether he be elected or not. "What the hell do they care?"—[Charleston News and Courier.

A Campaign Kernel.

The second time Kern ran for Governor he had to dig himself out from an adverse majority of 84,364 Hoosier votes. Now he adds to the family friction by declaring in an insinuating way that Judge Parker ran that same year.—[Detroit Free Press.

If some of these monarchies and dynasties would have an election once in awhile, they could get along with fewer rebellions and revolutions.—[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SCIENCE NOTES.

New Wireless Wonders.

Marconi has been working on new wireless phenomena that have been suggested by wireless telegraphy. At present an attempt to send messages in opposite directions results in confusion, one man firing against the other. This condition has caused Marconi to experiment with apparatus which will enable messages to be sent in both directions at once. The experiments have been quite successful for short distances and he expects they will also be when used across the Atlantic. Another of his late experiments has been to enable a ship approaching the shore, or another ship in a fog to determine exactly the position of the wireless station on shore, or the course of the other ship. You can see, he says, of course, how it will help a navigator if he is able to know, not only that another ship is approaching, but the exact angle the course of that ship makes with his own. It is perhaps a little difficult to explain the idea to the general reader. We get a screen with a small hole in the center. This is turned about in the direction from which the other ship, or the shore station, is known to be telegraphing, until the ring of bell, caused by the waves entering the hole in the screen, shows the exact direction from which the wave is coming has been ascertained. I shall be carrying out experiments on these lines in the Mersey in a few weeks. The idea is being specially welcomed by shipping authorities on the St. Lawrence River, where fog so often hinders navigation.

Can Kill the Codling Moth.

The devastating reign of the codling moth is nearing its end, if the discovery of Clarence C. Gillette, professor of zoölogy and entomology at the Colorado Agricultural College proves all that he has reason to believe it will.

For more than eighteen months Prof. Gillette has devoted much time and energy to perfecting a spray which would successfully kill off the codling moth, and at last success has crowned his efforts.

When he first advanced the theory of spraying just after the blossom fell, Prof. Gillette advocated the use of mixture composed of Paris green and London purple. That brought certain good results, but in many instances the arsenic killed the foliage.

The spray he advocates is arsenate of lead. It is almost entirely insoluble. A person could hold enough of it to cause death in the mouth all day without being able to dissolve enough to do any harm.

But if it were eaten and swallowed, the gastric juices of the stomach would dissolve it, and death would follow. This is how it kills the codling moth. It is sticky and will adhere to the tree all year, and no amount of rain or moisture can interfere with its efficiency, but let the moth nibble on it and he dies.

New Theory of Telepathy.

Sir Oliver Lodge says intercommunication between mind and mind occurs as if one mind operated directly either on another brain or on another mind across a distance, if distance has any meaning in such a case; or as if one mind exerted its influence on another through the conscious intervention of a third mind acting as messenger; or as if mental intercourse were effected unconsciously through a general nexus of communication, a universal world mind. All these hypotheses have been suggested at different times by the phenomenon of telepathy; and which of them is nearest the truth is difficult to say.

Thus for Sir Oliver Lodge telepathy opens up a new chapter in science, and is of an importance that cannot be exaggerated. Even alone it tends mightily to strengthen the argument for transcendence of mind over body, so that we may reasonably expect the one to be capable of existing independently and of surviving the other; though by itself or in a discarnate condition it is presumably unable to achieve anything directly on the physical plane. The field of spiritualism this renowned investigator names an elusive and disappointing field for inquiry, but nevertheless offering facts that cannot be ignored and additional contributions to the demonstration of immortality.

Insanity a Blood Disease.

A writer in Everybody's Magazine suggests that insanity is a blood disease rather than a disease of the brain. No anatomical investigation, he says, can show the vast difference between either brain cell or fiber of a person dying insane and the healthy brain of one killed in an accident. The same absence of brain changes is noticeable in a whole class of important chronic nervous diseases, such as migraine, neurasthenia, hysteria and epilepsy. None of these shows post mortem any characteristic changes from normal brains. Facts connected with temporary insanities produced by drugs entering the blood awaken the hope that we may find elsewhere than in the brain the cause, and therefore, with the cause, the best treatment for this dreadful affection, as well as also for the other nervous diseases which cause no brain changes. If the brain of a man who has been addicted to immense doses of opium for years still shows in it no trace of this mind-deranging agent, while chemistry quickly finds the reactions of this drug in his blood, the mistake of years on this whole subject begins to come into view. It is singular how long the sway of that error has continued, for even yet many physicians, including some neurologists, cannot see the two sides of the problem.

HOROSCOPE.

Monday, August 3, 1908.

He that playeth his part with power prosteth much.

Mars and Jupiter occupy brightly promising positions, in benefic aspect to the moon on this the one hundred and sixteenth day.

The planet of fortune and the planet of martial energy thus combined in favorable configuration are augured to exercise a spirited influence on all vigorous human efforts.

The beneficial condition is particularly favorable up to 5 p.m.

A lucky day to begin in new positions, undertake new duties or commence new business of any kind.

Deal with merchants, salesmen, bankers, brokers and agents.

Begin journeys in pursuit of profit.

"A good day for dealings with books."

Write important letters. Buy what has long been desired.

Consult medical men and specialists in these twenty-four hours.

A good day for all household affairs.

At 12:30 p.m. there will be a good time to deal with herbs under Mars—aloes, wormwood, rhubarb, horseradish and gentian.

At 12:50 p.m. balsam, betony, sage and bloodwort, herbs under Jupiter, will be potent. At 4:30 p.m. herbs under the moon—wintergreen, cress, loose strife, saxifrage and coral wort—will be best.

Letters or young people may annoy women with their birthdate today. The unwed will be wooed.

Men with this birthdate have a prosperous year indicated, but there is a change or travel ahead of them with unseen outcome.

The aspect under which children are born today is unsettled. Girls will probably be inclined to fickleness and will love change. Boys will be inclined to alter their resolution frequently, but will have luck in business notwithstanding, if they can get down to some definite purpose.

The Census Bureau announces that for the year 1905 the output of pins in this country reached 19,000,000,000. These were the common, everyday pin, and did not include some tons of hair pins, safety pins or other fancy articles grouped under the heading of "pins." Assuming the average length of pins is one inch, these 19,000,000,000 inches of pins would amount to 320,000 miles, enough to go around the world thirteen times. The value of these pins was $1,129,006, or about 160 for 1 cent. At such a cost, it is no wonder so little care is taken to save them from being wasted.

Where They Got the Dollar.

Why have farmers money for campaign or other purposes? Because they turned down a demagogue and his inflation fairy stories in 1896 and 1900.—[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

After the discussion becomes a trifle warmer some of us may find it difficult to remember whether it is Gompers or Bryan who is running for the Presidency.—[Washington Post.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

...gotiations for the Burbank's new ...ding woman, which have been pro-...ressing for the past month, must ...soon come to a definite conclusion, as ...Miss Hall will terminate her long en-...gagement within a few weeks.

It is said that the candidate in the lead at present is Miss Mabel Brownell, a handsome young actress who has had considerable experience in eastern stock companies, and who understudied Margaret Illington in the title role of "The Thief." She was given an opportunity in this for several days, and was accorded very high praise by the metropolitan reviewers.

Mr. Morosco, however, said yesterday: "Nothing has been decided upon, though I am expecting a letter at any moment—and until that letter arrives I am absolutely unable to predict even probabilities."

"The Girl, the Man and the Alimony," at the Grand, is merely another inning for—The Girl. The man and the alimony play almost invisible parts, and, for the summer audience, perhaps it is well that they do so.

Charles Gyblin, the best actor this company has presented, has a somewhat small "straight" part. Harry Wardell has a bit of German character even more eccentric than any in which he has been seen before, and he is given an opportunity to do a large and talking parody whose melody includes half a dozen grand opera reminiscences. Elise Schuyler has a bit of slavey portraiture, and Thomas Waverly is assigned to another of his hard-fisted topical delineations.

There are various new songs, a pretty swing song, in which a number of hose supporters—the round species—are lost out in the audience, and a see-saw specialty at the close of the first act.

Kolb and Dill, if possible, funnier than ever and in the same German comedy make-ups that have earned for them the title of the "No. 2 Weber and Fields," opened at the Los Angeles Theater last night for a two weeks' run in a piece called "Lonesome Town," by the late Judson C. Brusie.

"Lonesome Town" is sometimes called "Watts," but no town could ever be lonesome if populated by Kolb and Dill, Billy Clifford, Maude Lambert and the dozen wide-awake and vivacious chorus girls which go to make up the clever company with which these two stars have surrounded themselves.

The opening scene of "Lonesome Town" shows a country road with "Watts" in the background and the second scene the courtyard of the hotel. Both of these scenes are works of art in scenic and lighting effects.

While some of the music of the show is not new to Los Angeles, there is none of it that is not catchy and worth hearing. Kolb and Dill and Billy Clifford, as the three hobos, sing "Gee, But This is a Lonesome Town," and do a lazy essence dance that is alone worth the price of admission.

Maude Lambert as the marvelous widow from Chicago did not come on until the second act, but her late appearance was made up for by the manner in which she sang. She was forced to take encore after encore, her principal song, "Just Some One," particularly catching the fancy of her audience.

Two especially effective numbers are a chorus with mission bell accompaniment which is worthy of comparison with the famous Angelus chorus from the "Serenade," and a military number closing the first act, in which the chorus wear the most fetching and effective lot of Old Glory costumes that have struck the town in months.

Others worthy of mention in the cast of principals are Charlotte Vidot, Edith Whitel, Zada Mansfield, Harris McGuire and Ernest Van Pelt, who will be remembered for his local stock work.

The enduring popularity of Morosco's "The Judge and the Jury" filled the Burbank yesterday afternoon, even in midsummer heat. The piece is given practically its original cast, and better scenery than at any other presentation, in several particulars.

Maquita is, of course, played by Miss Hall, while Mr. Desmond returns to his original role of Miles Chilcote. John Burton cuts his vacation short to play Steve Olds, H. S. Duffield recreates his ludicrous "cow-eyed Carson," Harry Mestayer plays the Justice of the Peace, and Willis Marks reproduces his striking characterization of the skulking Manuel.

Margo Duffet is assigned to "Centipede Cal" for this inning of the play, and Byron Beasley plays Lester Greenway.

"Julie Bon-Bon," with Jane Grey in the leading part, will be seen at the Belasco Theater tonight.

"The Servant in the House," with the original cast, will open a week's engagement at the Mason Operahouse tonight.

No record in the August list of the Victor Company is better made nor exhibits more finished artistry than Giuseppina Huguet's "Regnava nel silenzio," from the first act of "Lucia." Though only a plain black-seal, it has the distinctness and clarity of red-seal products, and the brilliant yet intensely musical voice of the singer is reproduced with delightful fidelity.

It is fully the equal, in every way, of an excerpt by Calvé, from "Herodiade," at exactly five times the price. Calvé's voice is no longer in the glory of youth or even of good preservation, but as it is it is given with great truthfulness and the interpretation is good.

Two very good records are duets from "Lohengrin," and "Lakme," by Mmes. Eames and Homer. The distinctive voice-quality of both women is perfectly reproduced, and in the duet between Elsa and Ortrud, especially, the blending of tone is very effective.

An interesting novelty is a record by the American tenor George Hamlin. Mr. Hamlin sings Siegmund's "Liebeslied," from "Walkure," and though he is not exactly of Wagnerian stature his purity of tone and deeply poetic interpretation are finely in evidence.

Mischa Elman, who is yet to be heard in this country, sends his limpid and exquisitely pure violin voice ahead in a graceful record which contains both the Schubert "Moment Musicale," and the Bohm "Perpetuo Mobile."

Mme. Viafora gives a fine interpretation of Musetta's waltz-song, in the "Boheme" second act. Miss Abbot, who has not made many records lately, is again to the fore with a fine interpretation of Gounod's pleasing "Mirdille" waltz.

Mr. Plancon exhibits sonorous voice in the majestic "Nonnes, qui Reposez," from "Robert le Diable." It is not in his best style, being somewhat mechanically done. The vindictive "Pari Siamo," Rigoletto's tragic monologue, is dramatically presented by Mr. De Gogorza. Evan Williams has a fine record of "Lend Me Thine Aid," from "The Queen of Sheba."

Luigi Colazza, an Italian tenor of the noisy type, blasts his way through the "Ra del Cielo," from "Le Prophete," with true bother-shop effect

36-in. Stirling taffeta; value $2.25, now $2.00

$30.00 to $45.00 Linen Suits $15.00

If there ever was a time when fifteen dollars would do wonders, it is this third day of August. The suits are products of the very finest makers in New York, skillfully tailored and as carefully finished as the finest wool suit you could purchase.

Two all-potent reasons for cutting their prices from $30 and $45 to $15—incomplete lines and inventory time. A saving of half or more on a perfectly fresh, stylish suit is worth considering—don't you think so?

Every garment is of pure linen—stripes in brown and white and blue and white, plain linen shades and russet browns. The coats are strapped, or trimmed, some of them with figured cretonne and are this season's most highly-favored models; the skirts are pleated, with trimmings to match those on the coats; stitched straps and bands or folds. On special sale now for..... $15.00

Wash Goods Prices Tumble

Many people have their vacation outings yet in prospect. They will be most interested in this offer of linen mixed suitings, ultra-serviceable and stylish for mountain and beach wear.

Heavy qualities, in dozens of mixtures, hardly any two alike; light, medium and dark colors; regularly worth 50c, 75c and $1 a yard; now specially priced, simply to quickly close out this line, at 25c

Odd pieces of dainty organdies, lawns and batistes in many pretty summery patterns of rose sprays, and like designs; ordinarily sold for 15c and 25c; now specially priced for quick clearance at 10c

All remnant lengths—up to 10 yards, and none less than 2 yards—of colored lawns, dimities, mousselines, etc., at exactly half price.

Lingerie Waists $3.00

We've had this summer the best assortments of lingerie waists we ever had to sell at three dollars. A day or two ago several new consignments arrived to swell a collection already very complete.

Lingerie styles, daintily trimmed with lace and insertion, made up in fine lawns and batistes; a number of them shown in a window display. Choose yours early and have widest assortment.

All Soiled Blankets Reduced

All of the blankets, comforters, bedspreads and bath rugs which served in our recently-closed Midsummer Blanket Sale as samples, or which became soiled through handling or through display in the windows, are radically reduced now for immediate clearance.

Chances are you will not be able to see the hurts on many of them; in no case is the damage so great that it cannot easily be remedied by a laundering or a trip to the dry cleaner's; yet the prices are very greatly reduced on all articles concerned. Too many different prices to quote in detail; every blanket, comforter or bed spread is an unusual value at present figures.

Hand-Embroidered Undermuslins

Not only very cool for warm weather, but extremely pretty are these hand-embroidered garments which we propose to sell at prices as low as you ever paid for equally good qualities.

Hand-embroidered chemises, from $1.25 to $2.50; corset covers, from $1.25 to $3.50; gowns, from $2.75 to $6; in simple or elaborate patterns, all good.

A Block-Long Drapery Section

Twenty thousand square feet of floor space is devoted exclusively to the display of draperies and floor coverings—our entire third floor. That should give you a little idea of the extensiveness of our stocks and of the capable manner in which we are prepared to execute orders, whether large or small, for our customers.

In handsome new patterns are to be found Draperies by the yard, 12c and higher. Lace curtains at 50c a pair and higher. Upholstering and heavy draperies, 35c a yard and higher. Special sales of cross-striped madras curtains, as displayed in a Broadway window; ranging in price from $1.25 values at 95c up to $3.50 values at $2.25 a pair. Our display of summer furnishings are the most complete in Los Angeles—including hammocks, camping and porch furniture, screens and shades; fiber and all sorts of grass and rag rugs, and matting by the yard.

A few woven wire cots, with folding legs; slightly shopworn, some of them, reduced from $3.75 to $2.00

Bed springs, to close, offered at half price—$2.90 for $5.75 values.

Wool Suitings for Less

Now is certainly an opportune time to purchase novelty suitings of the highest grades at much less than you're accustomed to pay for their duplicates. Nothing but our determination never to carry over from one season to the next such goods as these would cause us to reduce their price at all.

Plain suitings and checks, plaids and shadow stripes, in gray and black, cream and light blue, brown, blue, tan and green stripes and checks, plain gray panamas in two shades, to form a pin stripe; many others also, all very handsome, and extra good for suits or skirts; 47 to 56 inches wide; regularly $1 to $1.50 a yard, specially priced 75c

We will take orders for made-to-measure skirts from these goods, at very modest prices. Orders may be left at the Wool Goods Section, and will be promptly and carefully filled. Scores of newest styles to select from.

Cream serges and panamas with black hairline stripes; even tan and brown, blue and gray and black and white stripes; regularly $2 a yard, now $1.10

At the Churches Yesterday.

Rending of Veil.

REV. DR. N. L. ROWELL, at the Garvanza Congregational Church yesterday, preached on "The Rending of the Veil," taking as his text: "And the veil of the temple was rent in twain, from the top to the bottom." (Mark xv, 38.) He said, in part:

"The death of Christ was attended by startling, preternatural events, creating a profound impression even upon the watching centurion. Most interesting to us was the rending of the veil, which represented the flesh of Christ. Both in tabernacle and temple this sacred curtain of blue, purple, scarlet and fine-twined linen of curious work, hung from golden hooks between the holy place and the Most Holy. Immediately upon Christ's death this veil was rent, by unseen hands, from top to bottom—the work of God, not man. What are the lessons?

"This rending emphasized the reality of Christ's death. Notwithstanding the fact that Jews and Romans believed He was dead and beyond hope of resurrection, there have ever been those who denied it. The old rationalists held that death was only apparent, merely a swoon. But Pilate ordered the centurion to make investigation and then delivered the body to Joseph, no bone having been broken, but the pierced side furnishing fullest proof of death. In Joseph's new tomb it lay, until the morning of the third day.

"In Revelations are these words: 'I am He that liveth and was dead, and am alive forevermore.' Nature added testimony to the great fact that is the foundation of faith. Darkness at midday, splintered rocks, earthquake, wandering spirits of dead men and the torn and useless veil proclaimed it.

"The rending of the veil signified a better understanding of types and ceremonies of the Old Testament. The veil meant separation. No one, no matter how orthodox or influential, could even look behind it, under penalty of death. No one but the High Priest, and He, only once a year. The ark, the pot of manna, the mercy seat, were there, but the furniture of the Most Holy Place must not be exposed to public view. But now, a crisis was reached, the end of the old dispensation had come, and those things hidden were revealed. Symbolism disappeared in the being symbolized. Prophecy turned history. The dim and shadowy became clear.

"The rending of the veil signified spiritual union. In olden times the Jews were the people of God, chosen, separated, beloved for Abraham's sake. In days of the tabernacle, there was but one people engaged in worship of the one true God, who offered to Him sacrifices and sustained services. But they rejected Jesus, failed to see in Him Messiah, and to this day remaineth the same veil for them. So came the call to the Gentiles: 'Other sheep have I.'

"Christ, greater and broader than any church, 'tasted death,' and now, there is neither Jew nor Gentile—'one fold and one shepherd.' Why should we spend time, strength, money, building paper partitions? We divide and subdivide and sub-subdivide until strength is faltered and Christian dignity has lost standing room.

"Once four men were seen carrying a burden along a crowded street. Failing to get their helpless man through the door into the healing presence, they made a door through the roof. In our day of great denominations crowding the way, let us work together, each at a corner of the burden, and carry our paralytic into the healing Christ.

"The rending of the veil signified opening of a new way of approach to God, the millinery of the old church abolished by a life that inspires and vivifies the world. Access to God is now a common right.

"This rending signified the sweeping way of every barrier to heaven. All may enter through the door, Jesus.

"Finally, we are living in a wondrous age. Veils that darken, separate, conceal, are being rent away. Truth of every character—scientific, philosophic, theological, is revealed as never before."

At Temple Church.

Rev. Dr. Johan Roach Straton of Baltimore preached at Temple Baptist Church, yesterday morning, the topic of his sermon being "Was Jesus Christ the Son of God?" The preacher handled his subject in a masterful way and opened several new channels of thought to his congregation. In the evening he spoke on "The World's Greatest Tragedy."

Arrangements are made for a large chorus which it is proposed to make one of the regular features of the services at Temple Baptist Church. Many applications for membership have been received and at the last choir practice matters were well under way. It is the intention to make the choir as great an organization in its way as that of the famous Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City.

J. R. Poulin, who succeeds Bruce Gordon Kingsley as musical director of Temple Baptist Church, is working faithfully to carry out the plan and he expects to build up a choir second to none in the world.

Word has been received from Dr. Robert J. Burdette to the effect that he expects to occupy his pulpit on the first Sunday in September and it is the desire of his people to give him a pleasant surprise on that occasion by having the big chorus choly, something that he has wanted for a long time, a flourishing organization in time for the home-coming.

Chinese Missions.

At New England Hall last night, Rev. S. C. Todd, missionary to China, delivered a sermon on the Chinese and their fear of death. He took as his text, Hebrews 2, XIV and XV, "Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of the flesh and blood He also Himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage." The speaker said in part:

"The Chinese have an awful dread of death. There is something about the severing of these earthly ties that fills them with blind, unreasoning fear. Often, when a man is nearing death, his family will move him quickly from the room in which he happens to be lying lest he cast a spell upon those about him.

"Particularly are the Chinese superstitious about having people die in their living and dining rooms and never will they allow such a thing to happen if it be within their power to prevent it.

"The story of Calvary, which teaches us to face death calmly, is a boon to the Chinese. To them it spells hope. How can we, with the example of Calvary before us, fail to have the missionary spirit? On the other hand, to be a true missionary one must have before him the wonderful sacrifice of the Savior who gave up his life that we might live."

This evening at 8 o'clock Mr. Todd will preach a sermon in Chinese at the Chinese New Testament mission on Alameda street. The services will be attended by the various Chinese Evangelical congregations of this city.

HOAX PERHAPS.

BOTTLED WORD FROM THE DEAD?

DOLEFUL MESSAGE IN A FLASK SUGGESTS TRAGEDY.

Weather-Worn Receptacle Washed Ashore Near Port Los Angeles Contains Notice Indicating That San Francisco Man Sought Watery Grave—Santa Monica Notes.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 2.—Is it a tragedy of old ocean, or only a hoax? Today there was washed upon the beach above Port Los Angeles a weather-worn and water-stained bottle. Curiosity prompted Fred Herman to break it open. Within it he found these words written in an unsteady hand upon the back of a small card:

"Please leave notice at No. 77 Haight street that I am now at rest at the bottom. Chester F. Wright."

The printed card contained the name of Chester F. Wright, corset maker, No. 77 Haight street, near Market street, between Gough and Octavia, San Francisco. Whether Wright is among the missing is not known. The bottle might have drifted with the current from San Francisco Bay, or it might have been cast into the sea from some passing steamer.

TODD CHANGES MIND.

George N. Todd announces that he has changed his mind and will not abandon his project of establishing a salt water city fronting and fringing the shore line of Santa Monica Bay. He says he will appear before the City Council with his attorneys tomorrow night and ask that the promised franchise be advertised. As a part of the proposed attraction he will erect an immense auditorium in which he expects the Grand Army of the Republic to take a deep interest.

The fact that City Councilman George D. Snyder was the lowest bidder for the construction of the Washington school and was awarded the contract raised the question as to the eligibility of an alderman to enter into a contract with the Board of Education.

Mr. Snyder sought legal advice and was told that the fact of his being a Councilman would prove no bar. According to this opinion, in the eyes of the law the building of a schoolhouse is county business. Although the City Council levies the tax and the city tax collector handles the money for the schools the Council has nothing to say as to what shall be expended, or in what manner.

City Attorney Odell, who was present at the opening of the bids, gave the Board of Education an opinion of like tenor. These same bids raised two other questions upon which the City Attorney has been asked for opinions. The specifications of the architect call for hardware of a certain make and for brick manufactured by a stated firm. The contention is that these specifications are not proper and that the law will not recognize them because there is discrimination.

"But you must not go back."

"How will you stop me?"

"You must not go, of course," she repeated insistently.

"Well, let's talk it over. Have you heard the news yet?" She shook her head. Then I'll tell you;" and I repeated all that the Senator had told me.

"There, you see you must not go," she cried.

"I shall make my will first. That's all."

"You make a jest of it. But you must not run such a risk."

"There's only one way of preventing me," I said, smiling.

She paused, her eyes asking the question she was reluctant to put in words. "I am anxious about my brother," she said, attempting a compromise.

"There's only one way of preventing me," I repeated. She understood, and let her eyes fall. "I want to tell you something," I added, and began to give her an account of myself when she stopped me.

"I know it all. Mrs. Farnworth told me," she said quickly.

"And is that why you wish to go home, then?"

We were leaning over the rail and she kept her eyes intently fixed on the blue water below, and after a pause turned them on me with a half-challenging look. "And if it is?"

I held them a moment and smiled. "Then I shall have to begin all over again in my own name this time," I replied.

She parried this with a laugh, sweet and low and musical. "But I must go home."

"They are hunting high and low for Beppo Serrano, and will clap him into prison the moment they catch sight of him."

Her face clouded. "I don't know what to do," she murmured.

"Then I surprised her. "I agree that you ought to go home," I said. She turned quickly at my apparent inconsistency. "But for my safety you must let me c..oose the route," I added.

"You are laughing," she cried.

"Never more serious in my life," I declared gravely.

"Then what route? Tell me," and she clapped her hand down on the rail with a gesture I knew well.

I laid mine on it and captured it. "By way of New York. It shall be our ——"

"Cuthbert."

"Ah, you've learnt that all right. I'm glad."

The color rushed into her cheeks and her eyes lighted. But after a moment she said earnestly. "There is Julius."

"Yes. And Beppo, too, if we go there at once from here; but there'll be no Beppo, or at least no trouble for him, if we choose the New York route."

"But you don't understand. I have nothing at all with me."

"What's the matter with the New York stores, and as for the voyage, any old things will do."

She laughed again. "Are all Americans in such a hurry as you?"

"Senator Farnworth thinks I'm slow. But he's a hustler."

"A what?" she asked, laughing again. I was explaining when he came up.

"Well, have you straightened things out?" he asked.

"Yes. Signorina Correggio is going with us to New York, we are to be married as soon as we land, and then coming back to look after her affairs here."

Masita uttered a little cry of astonished protest; but it was almost lost in my big friend's exclamation of satisfaction.

"Bully for you, my boy. And if you can spare her hand for a moment, I'd like to shake it and say I'm mighty pleased to hear the news."

In blushing confusion Masita drew her hand away and gave it to the Senator. He grasped it warmly and bowed over it. "Miss Correggio, I'm just delighted. I said last night there was nothing in this country worth 30 cents except the scenery. I take that back freely now that I know you. And now I'll just tell my wife that she must fix things comfortably for you on the voyage;" and off he went.

Masita and I looked at one another. "He has taken my breath away," she said.

"If it comes to that, I'm worse than he is, for I'm taking all the rest of you away."

And so it proved.

THE END.

SUMMARILY EXECUTED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) July 31.—Arturo Lopez, better known as "Red" Lopez, who was wanted for the murder of a man at Globe, was summarily executed a few days ago by the Mexican authorities at Imuris, together with a Mexican horsethief with whom he had been associated. The pair, under arrest for the murder of three Chinese near Moctezuma, managed to escape from confinement at Imuris. Twenty-four hours later they were run down in the hills, taken back to Imuris, tried speedily and then stood up against an adobe wall and shot. Lopez at one time was a resident of Douglas and was then believed to be an agent for horsethieves operating between Sonora and the ranches of this county.

The Mexican authorities are doing good work in clearing out desperadoes and have been especially active since the recent visit of Capt. Wheeler of the Arizona Rangers.

In the Ajo Mountains, east of Cananea, lately were rounded up seven members of the notorious Cajoncito gang, of which the leader at one time was George Arent, the horsethief, who was shot to death at Bisbee by Capt. Wheeler. In the possession of one of the seven was the rifle of an American who was murdered last winter near Fronteras. It is probable that the seven prisoners have been summarily disposed of already by the Mexican authorities.

It is said that the Mexican government has asked for the extradition of Burt Alvord, the notorious bandit, who is now living on the British Island of Jamaica. He is wanted in Mexico for the theft of $3000 worth of bullion, from the Tener brothers of Nogales, four years ago. A part of the booty was found later in a cache near Naco. Alvord's greatest exploit was the looting of the express car of a Southern Pacific train nine years ago, near Wilcox, where he was the local deputy sheriff. He served a couple of years in the penitentiary at Yuma, and was discharged only a day before the arrival of a United States warrant for him.

"FELLED OFF CHU-CHU."

J. J. Telfer, a Douglas railroad man, has just returned with his family from an outing in Colorado. On the way home, near Trinidad, the three-year-old daughter, Evelyn, was looking out of the car window, seemingly secure, with her mothers' hand on her skirt. But the coach suddenly lurched on a curve and the little one went through the window. The train was backed to the spot, the frantic father found his child lying beside the track, conscious, but with a fractured shoulder bone. She was not even crying and greeted her father with a shout and the explanation: "Papa, I felled off the chu-chu."

Sunday evening a train on the Nogales road killed Isaac Gilbo near Fairbank. He was a blacksmith, who had been discharged from the County Hospital at Tombstone and had chosen the track as a suitable place to sleep off a debauch. Liquor also was the cause of the death of John B. West, of Bisbee, who fell from his wagon at Lowell. His neck was broken.

SAVED BY ROPE.

Unconscious and apparently frozen to an electric wire in the Lowell mine, Martin Coombs, a pipeman, was rescued by a companion, William Ballard, who, knowing that to touch the body would be to invite disaster to himself, passed a dry rope around Coombs and pulled him to safety. Coombs will recover.

A report has come from New York that a loan of $5,000,000 has been secured by the Sierra, Madre and Pacific Railroad for the purpose of pushing its extension to connect with the Yaqui River Railroad, south of Nacozari, to Tonochic.

In the new town of Warren, the meter rates for water run from $1.50 for the first 1000 gallons to 65 cents for the fifth and succeeding 1000 gallons.

The Ministerial Association of Douglas is campaigning for the closing of all business places in that city on Sundays.

M. Kreely, who conducted a haberdashery at Lowell, has been forced into bankruptcy by eastern creditors, to whom is owing about $7100. The principal creditor is William Wolf of Seattle, who holds notes for $3000.

Supervisor J. G. McCabe recently discovered a beautiful subterranean lake in the Huachuca Mountains, in the mouth of Ash Cañon. A similar cave exists in the same locality, while in Montezuma Cañon is a great dry cave that has been known for years.

PISTOLS LEASED NOT SOLD.

Queer Method Texas Dealers in Firearms Take to Circumvent the Law.

"How much is it?" he asked when he had looked it over.

"I can't sell it to you," the dealer replied, "but I will lease it to you for fifty years for $15."

"This is a dad blamed funny kind of a joint," the cowboy said. "I don't want to lease a gun; I want to own it."

He started to walk out, but was called back by the dealer, who explained that the last Legislature passed a law which imposes a tax of 50 per cent. on the gross proceeds from the sale of pistols.

"If I sold you this six-shooter for $15 I would have to pay the State a tax of $7.50," the hardware man explained. "I can lease it to you for fifty years and won't have to pay the State anything."

The cowboy saw the point and leased the gun.

The law, which was enacted for the purpose of taxing pistols out of existence in Texas, has been in effect more than nine months. During that period only two pistols have been sold in Texas, according to the tax receipt records of the State Controller's office.

One of these weapons was sold the other day in Amarillo for $15 and the dealer made a remittance of $7.50 tax on the sale. The other pistol was sold at Gainesville several weeks ago for $10, one-half of which went into the coffers of the State.

It is said that dealers all over are evading the new law and selling pistols for periods of fifty years or more. Pistol toting is not openly practiced in any part of Texas. Most men still wear six-shooters, but the instances are hidden. There has been a wonderful change throughout the Southwest in this respect during the last fifteen or twenty years.

In the early days almost every native in this region wore one or more six-shooters in holsters attached to a belt around his waist. Then the cigarette wave which wiped out cigarette smoking is about to do away with the six-shooter in Texas came along and the six-shooter lost its popularity.

Only a few days ago a man was fined $100 for carrying a pistol, a great many years ago $1 and costs was the usual punishment inflicted.

It is said that the fight against carrying pistols has greatly lessened the mortality rate in Texas. Murders are still committed, but there has been a decrease in the indiscriminate shooting and killing that formerly took place in the State.—[New York Press.

A Biting Retort.

The Rev. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg—he is better known as Ralph Connor, the brilliant novelist—started a row in the Royal Astor in New York by advocating the saving of the "right of the bat." He said the world worked upon slowly were apt to "get a bad on one's hands."

Afterward Mr. Gordon compared the honest and sincere ways of the cowboy with the false and vicious methods of certain circles of society. The illuminated the comparison with a little dialogue.

"I overheard this dialogue," he said, "at a reception that I once attended in Washington. The speakers were two grande dames—I believe they were the word—two powerful social leaders, one from Philadelphia, the other from New York.

"'Well,' said the first grande dame, 'I must be off. I've got to go home and see my mother.'

"The second put up her lorgnette and drawled.

"'Really—ah—you don't mean to say you've got a mother living?'

"The first grande dame laughed a high, thin laugh, with something biting like acid, in it.

"'Oh, yes,' she said; 'my mother is still alive—and she doesn't look a day older than you do, I assure you.'"—[Exchange.

...an Loses for Portland by Two Wild Heaves.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the hardest fought baseball battle ever seen on the home grounds, lasting twenty innings, the Seals today bested the Beavers, 6 to 5. A record crowd saw the game, which was a splendid pitchers' battle between Doyle and Graney. It is not the latter's fault that the locals did not win. Doyle is credited with giving the game away three different times, twice by wild throws to first before he was crowded away from third. On three occasions his errors gave the visitors a run.

During the game the Spalding was batted over the fence for home runs by Johnson and Sutor. Fast double plays retired both pitchers out of holes in the first inning and these stunts were pulled off frequently. Today's game gives the Seals an even break on the series.

There was no score until the third inning, when Johnson spanked one over the right garden wall for the longest home drive of the season. Another unearned run came in the fifth when Graney opened with his great two-ply drive, and he came home when Johnson batted out a single to center. Graney continued to close the Seals out without a run until the eighth and Sutor created havoc with the batting average of the homers.

In the eighth Graney mowed down the first two up and as Sutor had batted twice, he looked safe. But he outgeneraled Graney on a straight ball and sailed it out of the lot over the fence. Mohler went out, so Portland had the lead.

In the ninth Zeider poked one to Doyle, who threw the ball way beyond Graney and Zeider raced to third. Graney pushed one past Casey, scoring Zeider. This called for extra innings.

The Seals got two more in their half of the tenth and it looked like curtains for Portland. The runs came as the result of another bad heave by Doyle on Curtis's bounder, Beck coming home and Curtis taking third. He scored on Whaling's wild throw to Danforth.

Mooney scored in Portland's half on a ball passed La Longe and Whaling's single chased Danzig over. Doyle with two down the side was relieved with the bases full. From the fifth to the sixteenth inning, there was no scoring by either side. In the latter, both sides got another and the game was tied up for four more innings until Zeider scored the winning run because Ryan butted in with another blunder.

TEAMS BREAK EVEN.

GRAY IS POUNDED HARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After annexing the afternoon game today by a 6-to-0 score, the Angels were more engaged this afternoon with the problem of how to catch an early train than of winning and they let the Commuters get away with a 7-to-1 contest in an hour and a quarter. From the Oakland standpoint, it was a success because they won the game and batted Dolly Gray out of the box.

Even at that it was a good game, in which the Oaks deserved to win on their hitting. Dolly Gray stayed for four innings and after five runs had been counted, was retired for Nagle, who had as many hits against him, but allowed only a couple of runs.

Van Haltren started the bombardment in the first inning, when he drove the ball over the right field fence, his first home run on the Recreation Park grounds. That took the life out of Gray and he was easy to hit. Hardy pitched good ball and was accorded faultless support. Only once, when the Angels bunched two doubles by Ellis and Delmas, did they score a run. In the next inning, the fifth, they had two men on bases, with nobody out, but the side was retired without danger.

Oakland cinched the game in the fourth. Cook hit to center and was sacrificed by Heitmuller, Eagan walked and an error by Bernard, who bounced Eagan's liner off his knee, scored Cook. Miller hit Eagan home and after Altman was out, a single to left by Slattery put Hogan around the bases. The fourth tally came when Easterly failed to stop a third strike called on Hardy and then threw wild to first.

It was enough, but for good measure the Commuters gathered in two more in the seventh. Hardy singled through third and Van Haltren hit to the right field fence for two bases. Cook was out on a fly and Heitmuller forced a squeeze for Handy. Eagan's hit tallied Van Haltren.

The Angels looked a bit dangerous in the sixth when Bernard and Oakes started with hits, but Bernie was caught trying to steal third and the rest was easy.

Thorsen who has not pitched in a long time, won his game in the forenoon. Christian for Oakland pitched good ball, but was accorded miserable support. In the third inning, with two out and two on the bases, Hogan made a boot at third that gave the southerners a good start and after that they kept up the good work. The scores:

GANLEY BEATS BURNS.

BILL HIT WITH BAT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It leaked out here tonight that the reason Manager Joe Cantillon of the Washington team did not pitch Bill Burns, one of his star twirlers, against the White Sox during the series just played, was because Burns is laid up in a hospital in St. Louis as a result of a fight with Bob Ganley in St. Louis last Wednesday.

Burns and Ganley had an argument on the bench over a misplay by the latter and went out behind the grand stand to settle the dispute with their fists. Just as Burns was going out of the gate Ganley is said to have hit him with a bat, as well as pummeling him with his fists. Burns had to retire from the game and later it was found out two of his ribs were broken and he was otherwise internally injured.

The Burns-Ganley bout, as it is spoken of by members of the Washington team, has caused a split in the club which may prove serious. The players have taken sides in the matter and there is considerable bad feeling among them.

Manager Cantillion denied today there was any trouble between Ganley and Burns, but admitted his pitcher was not in fit condition to take his regular turn in the pitcher's box.

PICO HEIGHTS WINS AGAIN.

Pico Heights defeated Dolgeville in a close game in the Southern State League series, yesterday afternoon, the score being 5 to 4. Carr and J. Dear each connected for doubles, but the Picos managed to bunch their bingles at opportune periods thereby winning the contest.

Naples vanquished the Pioneer Stars in the second afternoon game at "Scotty" ball domain, the score being 14 to 6.

At Rivera the home nine went down to a decisive defeat before the Neidmores by the 10 to 1 tally.

OLD FIGHT REVIVED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEMPHIS, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Negotiations have started which if ended will result in transforming the famous two minute Billings trotting track here into a stock yard for a place of sale of all sorts of cattle, sheep and swine. E. Owens, representing, it is said, a syndicate in Kansas City, headed by E. E. Smathers, is dickering for the entire plant, which was built at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars in 1901, by G. K. Billings, and used for harness meets for four years thereafter.

The sale is believed to be the outgrowth of the famous feud between Smathers and Billings over the Lou Dillon-Major Delmar race.

STRENUOUS DAYS.

KETCHEL IS BUSY BRUISER.

Has Two Battles on During Next Two Weeks.

Joe Thomas Expected to Put up Hard Bout.

Sports Look for Champion to Beat Papke.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stanley Ketchel has a lively time ahead of him for the next six weeks, as he is billed August 16, at the Coliseum, to go twenty rounds with Joe Thomas at catch weights, and on Labor Day, in Los Angeles, he will fight twenty-five rounds with Billy Papke before the Jeffries' Athletic Club.

Thomas has given the Michigan man three tough fights and ought to be able to make another hard fight, as he will not be tied down this time by weight restrictions. As for Papke, Ketchel should beat him easily.

Early in September three championships will be settled here in three days. On September 7 Owen Moran and Abe Attell will box twenty rounds at Coffroth's Mission-street arena, and on the same day Papke and Ketchel will meet in a twenty-five round bout at the Jeffries' Club.

Two days later Battling Nelson and Joe Gans will fight again at Coffroth's. This will be the biggest collection of championship contests since the New Orleans Festival, when John L. Sullivan was knocked out.

MORE LANGFORD BACON.

WILL MEET ROSS FRIDAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most important fight between big men will be the six-round bout of Sam Langford, the negro cyclone of Boston, and Tony Ross, the young Italian heavyweight of Newcastle, Pa., which will be decided at the "stag" of the Fairmount Athletic Club on Friday night.

Billy Papke, the Illinois thunderbolt, will be seen in the ring in New York before he goes to the Coast for a return battle with Stanley Ketchel for the middleweight championship. Johnny White, the new managing director of the National Athletic Club, announced today that Papke had joined that organization and would appear at the "stag" on August 13. Papke's opponent has not been selected.

MANY FISH CAUGHT.

FITCH FAMILY LUCKY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AVALON, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch by Wireless Telegraph.] Dr. W. W. Fitch and Mrs. Fitch of Pomona returned tonight from San Clemente Island, where they fished for three days. Their total catch of yellowtail weighed 326 pounds. The largest fish taken by the doctor weighed 44½ pounds. His wife secured three gold-button fish, the largest weighing 45 pounds on the scales at the island.

The doctor brought back with him a yellowtail weighing 49½ pounds, that was caught by Smith Warren, and another weighing 42½ pounds, that was hauled in by A. K. Goodwin.

This is the largest number of gold-button trophies that have been brought in this season at one time.

GILMORE REFUSES.

PASSES UP FRED WELSH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Harry Gilmore tonight announced that Packy McFarland will not fight Fred Welsh, the English lightweight, before the Jeffries' Club at Los Angeles on Sept. 9. The match had been arranged with the exception of the posting of forfeits.

When Jeffries decided to have Ketchel and Papke meet before the same club on Sept. 7, Gilmore objected. He feels that a Ketchel-Papke match so close to his date would hurt the fight in which he is interested.

PUGS DRAW CROWDS.

PHIL AND PACKY BUSY.

Over 2000 persons saw Phil Brock work out at Venice, yesterday, in preparation for his match with Packy McFarland at the McCarey Club pavilion and the spectators saw some slashing good boxing. Every one must have come away with a good idea of Brock's condition for he boxed two good bouts with Freddie Welsh and Young Trendall, there being three rounds with Welsh and four with Trendall. In addition he went seven miles on the road in the morning and went through the usual gym stunts.

Out at the South Side Club McFarland showed to about 800 people notwithstanding the warm day. He started the morning with six miles on the road and then in the afternoon boxed two rounds with Sam Coulter; two with Norm Stone; two with Vogt and three with Analinger, the latter being rough ones. Both the boys are in fine shape and both are close to weight.

BIG TUNA HOOKED.

Los Angeles Nimrod Pleases Catalina Visitors by Bringing Monster Fish to Gaff.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

AVALON (Catalina Island) Aug. 2.—[By Wireless.] A yellow-fin tuna, fifty-six inches long and weighing 84½ pounds, was caught at noon today off Seal Rock by E. A. Herrick of Los Angeles. He used the regulation tuna tackle, baited with sardines and was fishing with Capt. H. Boss in the launch Helen.

The tuna towed the launch three miles, and four times took out 600 feet of line, and four times sounded bottom. Fishermen state that there is a school of at least 500 tuna in these waters, and every available launch is out with enthusiastic Waltons.

No Flight Attempted.

Owing to the fact that the engine of Dan Johnson's aeroplane was not in working order, there was little doing yesterday in the airship line at Chutes Park. With the assistance of seven or eight men and boys the "California Queen" raised up from the ground like a kite for a short distance, but there was little attempt to do anything on account of the lack of motive power. Johnson promises to have everything in working order by next Sunday.

A GRAZ TAKES WHEEL HONORS.

WINS HANDICAP LAP EVENT AND FIVE-MILE RACE

Also Finishes First in Motorcycle Dash for "Pros."—Florentin Captures "Pursuit" for Amateurs—Best That Bill Furman Does Is a Second Place.

Emil Agraz again took the lion's share of the racing honors in yesterday's card of bicycle and motor events held at the saucer track at Seal Gardens, the whirlwind Mormon City rider making a runaway finish of both the professional two-mile handicap lap event, and the five-mile motor-paced race. He started at scratch with Furman, who has been defeating all the "pros" in the recent contests, and after trailing Deur, Oudkirk and Furman for fifteen laps, stole the pole, and broke away from the bunch with apparent ease, winning the race from "Big Bill" by ten feet.

In the five-mile motor-paced event Agraz in competition with Ray Deur, showed a clean pair of heels to that worthy rider, following his pacemaker, Gunn, with the devotion of a Buddha worshiper; and when Emil urged his motor faster, Deur lost his scent in the sudden spurt to close the gap, and before the two connected again, Agraz had gained an entire lap on his rival, Deur leaving his pace before the finish and completing the distance alone, with Agraz winning by nearly three laps. The time was exceptional for a hot day, the five miles being completed in 8m. 21 2-5s.

The tandem bicycle race between Pearne and Florentin and McNeil and Backrath developed into a pursuit event at a furious pace, a broken chain accounted for a delay in the first false start; and on the second trial, McNeil and Backrath started to catch their rivals on the first round, but after gaining nearly a third of a lap, Mac and Rob found their rivals becoming fresher and stronger at every push of the pedals, and it took Pearne and Florentin just six laps over one mile to establish their right to first money, going the distance in 2m. 34s.

Erwin Knappe started the programme in a trial one mile race to beat the motorcycle record, but he missed Lawson's mark of 1m. 6s. by twelve seconds.

M. J. Graves, who was carded to also attempt to lower the same record, failed to put in his appearance, and was fined. Agraz and Gunn substituted for Knappe and Graves in the two-mile motor race, which was a good exhibition of fast, steady riding, the two "pros" taking the angles like veterans, and riding "side by each," occasionally spurting ahead alternately. Agraz won by a length, just equal to the slight handicap he had on the flying start.

To a rolling start, a dozen amateurs sprinted at the crack of the gun in the three-mile lap race. After Harry Peterson had earned the value of a bicycle lock in lap money, the event became a nip-and-tuck struggle between McNeil and Backrath for the pole, the two scratch riders alternating at pace, Rob winning seven laps, and Mac gaining twelve circles to his credit. After the tenth lap, the wearying youngsters began to wither under the trying gait of the two pacemakers, one by one dropping out until only Jones and Smith trailed behind for third and fourth honors. Jones broke into the pace near the finish of the long grind, winning the twenty-first and twenty-second laps, McNeil on the final sprint winning from Backrath by a wheel.

Lap honors were more evenly distributed in the professional handicap, with "Old Man" Tomkins taking six laps, Nelson five laps,

PASADENA.

GREAT LENS NOW IS ON SUMMIT.

GLASS FOR SUN MIRROR IS TAKEN UP MOUNTAIN.

Anxiety for Its Safety Set at Rest by Its Arrival at Wilson's Peak. Crowds Seek Cool Canyons—Great Preparations Being Made for Picnic at Balboa.

Special to The Times. No. 36 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Aug. 2.—The great 60-inch lens for the Mt. Wilson telescope rests in safety on the summit of the peak. All the anxiety as to the safety of a valuable glass was relieved when the great automobile truck bearing the lens reached the summit Saturday night. It was but the work of a few minutes to unload it and truck it to a place of security, where it will rest until the builders of the observatory are ready for it.

The lens is for the first great sun telescope on the peak. All the material necessary to the building of the wonderful instrument is now on top of the mountain and the truck will make only one or two more trips this summer.

Since the trail was repaired early in the spring the automobile truck has plied up and down the mountains with great loads, as often as two and three times a week. Some of the burdens on the vehicle have been more than five tons and the greatest skill was required to guide the vehicle around the sharp turns and along the precipitous trail. Several times the engine broke down and it was necessary to stop for repairs, but it is worthy of note that no serious accident occurred.

With the arrival of the lens on Mt. Wilson and with all the other building material necessary to the completion of the observatory on hand, it will be only a matter of a few months, or possibly weeks, until the great telescope is in use.

CROWDS SEEK RESORTS.

In an endeavor to find a cool spot thousands of people left this city yesterday for the beaches and the cool mountain cañons. The city was practically deserted and the attendance at the churches was small. The heat was moderated.

DIES AT HOSPITAL.

James L. Rogers, a negro, died at the Pasadena Hospital last Saturday afternoon at the age of 36 years. He had been a resident here for four years. The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Friendship Baptist Church.

FOR PICNIC DAY.

Preparations for Pasadena's big picnic will begin in earnest this morning. From now until Thursday the committee of the Board of Trade in charge of arrangements will divide its time, between here and Balboa, where the big feast will be celebrated.

According to the present plans, early Thursday morning cars will begin running straight through to Balboa from various parts of this city so that people living at the terminals or along the branch lines of the Pacific Electric Railway, will be accommodated. From the downtown station cars will be run at frequent intervals to allow every one a seat.

The programme for the day will begin promptly at 10 o'clock, when the sports will be run off in charge of a committee consisting of K. N. Stevens, George Braden, R. C. Halsted and T. D. Nestor.

At noon D. W. Coolidge and twenty-five assistants will serve coffee and other refreshments to the crowd and the only requirement is that every one bring a cup and spoon.

George Brenner, H. H. Webb and S. H. Bassett, the committee on prizes, have secured a number of valuable prizes for the winners in all contests. The committee on arrangements for the day, including H. G. Chaffee, H. G. Prins, R. Taylor, D. G. Andrews, C. V. Ryder, Dr. C. J. Tracy, W. F. Wright, Edward T. Off and A. J. Berteau, have secured the best concession ever offered on Pasadena Day. It includes a one-half rate for children. The Pacific Electric Railway Company has made a rate of 70 cents for the round trip for adults, which is a good concession as Balboa is fifteen miles south of Long Beach. This gives a fine ride along the beach, which is among the beach, which is one of the features of the day. Free boating on the lagoon, a special rate of 10 cents per bathing suit at the bathhouse, a band concert all day long, good surf bathing and excellent fishing are other attractions.

From present indications, the largest crowd that ever went to a picnic from Pasadena will go to Balboa on Thursday. Over 5000 attended the picnic at Long Beach last year.

TO FISH AT CLEMENTE.

Quite for a jolly good time, eleven members of the Pasadena Lodge of Elks will leave here early next Monday morning for San Clemente Island. They plan to sail in the forty-foot launch Corsair, and expect to spend a week or more fishing. The dean of the party will be William H. Butler, who landed the largest tuna captured at Avalon last year, and now wears one of the gold buttons.

Those who plan to go are: Dr. R. Y. Hollis, Sam S. Hall, Fred Moulton, Chester Dansel, Percy Gibbings, Charles Stone, Dr. Shaw, B. C. Crandall, Bert Rogers, Dr. E. T. Halsby and William H. Butler.

PASADENA PARAGRAPHS.

The four Chinamen who have been held for several months and are now out on bail, on a charge of running a lottery, will have another hearing in Judge Robert McDonald's court this morning. An effort on the part of their attorney, J. G. Rossiter, to secure a writ of habeas-corpus proved futile.

The Americus Club will hold its first meeting tomorrow night.

The First Christian Church will not discontinue services during the Long Beach Christian Church convention. Willis Johnson, secretary of the tournament of Roses Association, is a guest at Hotel Virginia, Long Beach.

Sales of lots and smaller properties aggregating over $8000 were made by the Anderson Investment Company during the past week.

Mrs. A. H. Sheldon of No. 604 North Raymond avenue will appear before Judge Robert McDonald on the 9th inst., to answer to a charge of violation of the ordinance relating to the care of chickens.

C. W. Koiner, manager of the municipal lighting plant, went to Redondo on Saturday to inspect the great power plant there.

Dr. George W. Braden, physical director of the Y.M.C.A., has been presented with a fine toilet set by the junior members of Camp Merriam, Avalon. He was in charge of the camp and leaves the association September 1 to take charge of the work in the physical department of Occidental College.

Artists materials at Wadsworth's. Phelps for wall paper and paints. The Virginia, Long Beach, equaled by none. Moderate rates for the summer.

REDONDO ASSESSMENT.

Improvements and Personal Property Responsible for an Increase of Half-Million Dollars.

REDONDO, Aug. 2.—City Assessor Crellier has completed the assessment book for 1908-9, and it is ready for the equalizers. The totals are as follows: Real estate, $1,338,410; improvements, $462,294; total real property, $1,800,704; personal property, $476,824; moneys, $1421.21; franchises, $4500; grand total of all property assessed, $2,338,459.31, which includes certain exemptions valued at $45,220. This leaves a net total subject to taxation of $2,293,239.31. The total for last year was $1,772,590, or a net increase of $515,649.31. Mr. Crellier states that he left real estate and franchises values as they were last year, the half million increase applying to improvements and personality, chiefly to the former.

As usual, the assessment book contains many curious and interesting facts. For instance, only three companies and one private party own up to having money, and their total cash is but $1421.21. These four are the Los Angeles Wave Power and Electric Company (Starr Wave Motor Company), which acknowledges to the possession of $100; the People's Savings Bank, $201.21; the Redondo Savings Bank, $525, and J. L. Quint, $5.

The four largest assessments are the Redondo Improvement Co., whose property is assessed at $345,286; the Pacific Light and Power Company, at $297,696; the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway, at $166,270, and the Standard Oil Company, at $53,505.

PICNIC AND SPORTS.

The Knights and Ladies of Security of Southern California held their annual picnic here day before yesterday. The attendance, said to have been the largest in the history of the society, was estimated at 1500, and the programme of sports was by far the most elaborate ever attempted by the order.

There were no less than eight interesting contests, and at least two prizes in each. The events included sack, potato and bean races, a nail-driving contest and a fat man's race, besides the usual fifty and seventy-five-yard dashes for both ladies and gentlemen. There were competitive drills of various degree teams in the Pavilion, and a ladies' contest of ability to stay on the human roulette wheel. The fun began at 11 o'clock a. m. and lasted until 5 p.m.

It was by far the jolliest crowd of people, old and young, seen at the beach this season.

AQUATIC LUNCHEON.

Will Be One of Features of Los Angeles Day at Venice—Attractive Programme Arranged.

VENICE, Aug. 2.—The programme for Los Angeles Day is being rapidly put in shape. Unless all signs fail, Saturday will be one of the biggest days in the history of this resort. Los Angeles has already decided to declare the day a legal holiday and Mayor A. C. Harper is scheduled to reply to the address of welcome made by S. B. Eakins, president of the Ocean Park Board of Trustees.

These exercises are to begin at 1:30 in the afternoon. During the forenoon there will be a baseball game and other athletic sports. At 2:30 a.m. the bath-house plunge will be the scene of aquatic sports and contests for prizes. An hour later there are to be boat, gondola, swimming and diving races, followed by water polo and water basketball. An aquatic luncheon in the ocean will be another feature, and there will be a drill by the life-saving crew.

There will be band concerts and dancing and skating during the afternoon and evening and at night there will be a display of fireworks.

WHITTIER.

WHITTIER, Aug. 2.—The fire department was called out yesterday by a small blaze at the home of D. A. Clark of No. 541 Olive Drive. A bucket brigade proved sufficient to subdue the flames, however.

The local High School is to lose two popular members of the faculty, Prof. Walter Boston going to Santa Maria to take charge of the English department, and Miss Estelle Story going to Bakersfield to take up the department of domestic science.

Two East Whittier boys, Earl Cammack and George Burnett, are in trouble with the Federal authorities, being charged with neglecting to extinguish a campfire which caused a $50,000 blaze.

Voters of Rivera formed a Lincoln-Roosevelt League Club night before last. S. W. Burke being elected president and A. G. Urey, secretary.

Funeral services for Mrs. Esther Shugg, mother of Mrs. W. P. Storey and Mrs. T. L. Gooch of Rivera, were held at the home of the former day before yesterday, interment being in the Whittier Cemetery.

COVINA.

COVINA, Aug. 1.—The Democrats Tuesday evening will organize a William J. Bryan club.

A thorough survey of the streets is advocated by City Engineer Skeggs in anticipation of the improvement work which is to be done.

The school board has decided that the $60,000 of school bonds, upon which a vote will be taken on August 24, shall have a face value of $1000 each, instead of $6000, in order to insure readier sale.

An ice storage plant is the most recent addition to the business of Covina. James R. Hedges has built it at First and Front streets.

The meeting of the business men of Covina, Azusa and Glendora, called to protest against the proposed toll rates between this city and near-by towns, was successful, in as much as the people have been notified that no toll will be established, but the company simultaneously announces that all rates will soon be subject to a slight raise, a step which, it is claimed, is imperative in order to put the company on a dividend-paying basis.

Oh, What Joy!

"Cured at last! Oh, what joy to think that I have at last been cured of that awful bowel trouble," are the words of A. C. Butler of Cold Springs, Tex., who suffered off and on for twelve months with a disorder of his bowels, and finally, after almost giving up in despair, was cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No one need suffer from colic or diarrhoea, for this remedy always gives prompt relief.—[Adv.

SUBURBANITES GIRD ARMOR ON.

WILL FIGHT FOR NEW CITY OF BELMONT HEIGHTS.

Supervisors May Grant Petition Today, If Long Beach's Arguments Against Such Action Aren't Potent Enough—Property Owners to Give Views on Bond Issue.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 2.—The hope that, in order to share in the benefits of the good roads bond issue, this city would not attempt to take their water front, which it needs to secure an outlet for its outfall sewer east of the Bixby Park, has been abandoned by the suburbanites in the Mira Mar section. They were willing to let all proceedings drop in order that the boulevard to Naples from the city limits might be built out of the bond issue. Last night, at a meeting attended by one hundred voters, it was unanimously decided to proceed with the fight for incorporation, and the officers who may shape the destinies of the new city of Belmont Heights were named. The petition was filed with the Supervisors two weeks ago, and will come up for hearing tomorrow morning, when fifty of the most prominent residents of the territory will be present.

At the meeting of the suburbanites there was grim determination displayed. Before proceeding with other business, they adopted officially the resolution passed last week agreeing to abandon incorporation if the city would abandon annexation of the water front strip, which includes 4000 feet of the proposed boulevard to Naples. This will be presented to the Council Thursday morning by Messrs. Oliver, Spicer and Bassett, not with any hope of favorable action, but to place where it belongs the responsibility of the loss of the boulevard appropriation.

Should the Supervisors grant the petition tomorrow, an election will be called on August 17, the day of the city's annexation election. A committee of seven qualified electors was selected to suggest the new city government. They are: Messrs. M. R. Pendleton, Edward Ralph, J. B. Henry, C. A. S. Higley, H. M. Aldridge, A. W. Reynolds and Amos Towne. The committee reported the following officers of the proposed new city: Board of Trustees, J. M. Brown, A. R. Green, H. W. Bassett, J. W. Rhea, Byron F. Van Deventer; City Clerk, A. W. Oliver; Treasurer, A. W. Reynolds; Marshal, J. A. Webb. All are of pronounced temperance views. The meeting adopted the name of the Citizens' League for the election ticket and then adjourned.

TO SOUND TAXPAYERS.

Confronted with the fact that even with a valuation of $16,500,000 at a $1 tax levy, rigid economy must be practiced to run the city for the next eleven months on the probable revenue, the Council, immediately after announcing its budgets on next Thursday, will call a mass meeting to sound the property owners and taxpayers on the advisability of a bond issue of $50,000 to provide for necessary new work. This will include funds for permanent repairs on the pier, a 12-ton road roller, two new fire houses, increase of the hydrant system and an addition and repairs to the City Hall.

It is claimed that present bonded indebtedness of the city is less than that of any other in the State. The total of the original issues is $250,350. Payments on these have reduced the bonded indebtedness to $207,257.50 on a property valuation of $17,277,800 as shown by the assessment books this year. The budget contains a provision for retiring $9000 this year.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

The free summer school of the Episcopal Sunday-school Institute, diocese of Los Angeles, opens here Tuesday, and will continue in session four days. The school will be held at St. Luke's Church, and there will be lectures by Rev. A. A. Butler, Rev. P. H. Hickman and Rev. Robert L. Windsor. Class demonstrations will be given by Miss Lillian Allebach, and Revs. F. T. Henstridge, E. L. Howe and R. B. Gooden.

CHARTER REVISION.

The Charter Revision Committee has organized for work and will hold its first regular meeting at the City Hall Monday night. Prof. J. J. Morgan is chairman and B. P. Daymun secretary. The other members are H. S. Callahan, C. T. McGrew, C. A. Buffum, W. H. Chandler and J. P. Newell. The committee will consider the present charter section by section for amendments to be proposed to the Council. Monday, to facilitate work, no public session will be held and suggestions of changes must be made in writing to the secretary. Each amendment agreed upon, will be published two weeks before final action is taken.

Mrs. D. B. Stanton of Los Angles wanted some gum for her little girl but dropped a $5 gold piece into a slot machine on the Pike instead of a cent. She then asked an officer to smash the machine open for her.

FOR WOMEN ONLY.

A chapter of a new secret society on the lines of the Mystic Shrine, but for women only, is to be instituted here in a few weeks. It will be called the Daughters of the Mystic Lake, and the initiatory ceremonies will take place at midnight beside some pool or stream. The ritual is by Mrs. W. H. Austin, an old resident of this city, who is now organizing lodges in the East. There is one lodge in California at Elsinore.

DRAMA WITH MUCH ACTION.

John Olsen of West Long Beach went across the bay today with $15 in his pocket, but came home with a "grouch," and finding his friend, Chas. Dickson, visiting Mrs. Olsen, became angry and threw dishes and furniture at the pair. Dickson resented this and gave Olsen a thrashing, it is said. Then both were arrested and taken to jail to answer a charge of disturbing the peace.

CUSTODIAN OF FUNDS.

Mark Keppel of Los Angeles was made custodian of the Budget Committee's funds.

A hay ride to Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Venice will be given tomorrow to the delegates.

The local congregation adopted a new idea for the entertainment of the visitors. It pitched two tents, in one of which a cook prepared dinner and supper, and in the other they were served. Lodging and breakfast were provided at the homes of the residents, the total result being that the entertainment of the guests was less burdensome upon the housewives than it otherwise would have been, and many of the guests enjoyed eating meals that had "camping-out" zest about them.

At the session, yesterday, Rev. J. L. Parks was reelected treasurer of the conference and Rev. R. M. Zuck was reelected treasurer of the Foreign Missionary Society.

The report of the Finance and Boundaries Committee was presented. Upon motion it was amended, apportioning $25 for general Sunday-school purposes instead of $15.

PRESIDING ELDER.

The report provided that the State should constitute one presiding elder's district, the elder to hold a pastorate if he desires, and not to travel unless sent for, and if sent for the district sending for him to pay his expenses. A new station was formed in the Elizabeth Lake district to be known as Roosevelt.

The vote on presiding elder resulted in the election of Rev. M. R. Drury of Oakland.

The report of the Publishing Committee was presented by Rev. William Thompson of Gridley; that of the Committee on Bible Cause by Rev. Homer Galaher of Durham; that on the Young People's Christian Endeavor Union by Rev. L. Harter of Oakland; that on church erection by Rev. Dr. L. S. Cornell of Los Angeles; that on the second year's course by Rev. William Thompson of Gridley; that on the home by Rev. R. M. Zuck of Riverside; that on temperance by Rev. W. G. Fisher of Los Angeles, and that on auditing by Rev. W. G. Fisher. All were adopted.

The report of the Committee on Education was amended by appropriating $500 for Philoma College.

The ladies of the conference met and organized a home and foreign missionary branch, to act as one society, with one set of officers.

Mrs. J. L. Parks of Los Angeles was elected president; Mrs. A. R. Williams of Live Oaks, vice-president for the northern district; Mrs. M. R. Drury of Oakland, vice-president for the central district; Mrs. R. M. Zuck of Riverside, vice-president for the southern district; Mrs. Jennie Perrine of Los Angeles, treasurer, and Mrs. L. Mathews of Los Angeles, secretary.

Mrs. W. R. Funk of Dayton, O., and Mrs. William M. Bell of Oakland addressed the meeting and gave some excellent missionary thoughts and helpful suggestions.

Mrs. M. R. Drury of Oakland drew up the paper on organization, which was adopted.

His arduous labors during the conference and the unusual heat so affected Bishop Bell that he was unable to conduct the services night before last, so Rev. L. S. Woodruff of Stockton, officiated.

LIKE SHIPPING PORT.

Three Steamers, Yachts and Launches Give Avalon a Busy and Picturesque Appearance.

AVALON, Aug. 2.—Avalon Bay looked like a shipping port this noon when the Cabrillo steamed up to the wharf, closely followed by the Hermosa, while just beyond Sugar Loaf appeared the City of Long Beach and close on her trail the launch Virginia. All were crowded with passengers. Beside the usual number of launches and yachts lying in the bay were three other yachts from the South Coast Yachting Club, the Minerva, the Muriel and the Evian, which came into port last night. The biggest crowd of the season is now on the island, the unusual heat of the mainland having sent people over in swarms.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

SAN BERNARDINO.

LOSES DIAMONDS AFTER A SPREE.

MAN COVERED WITH GUN AND STRIPPED OF WEALTH.

Commercial Traveler Claims That Jovial Companions of Night's Fun Robbed Him of Eleven Thousand Dollars' Worth of Jewelry and Money—Woman Disappeared.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 2.—Sam Van Rooyan, well known throughout the country as a traveling man for a large New York and London concern, has appealed to the officers here to arrest James W. Gill and W. A. Naill, whom he charges with having robbed him of $11,000 worth of diamonds and money.

Van Rooyan is reticent concerning certain phases of the transaction. He said those whom he accuses were out for a good time, during which Van Rooyan got gay and exhibited his wealth.

During the early morning hours, while on his way to his hotel, he claims that he was suddenly confronted by two masked men, who covered him with revolvers and stripped him of his wealth.

Van Rooyan claims that he recognized in the masked men his jovial companions of the night. Both accused have worked for the Santa Fé shops. Their present whereabouts are unknown.

CRUEL MEXICANS.

Humane Officer W. H. Baldwin was called to the Willows today to kill a horse that had been abandoned by a Mexican. He found the brutal owner had knotted a rope tight about the animal, to cripple the animal. It appears to be the practice among Mexicans to either "hamstring" their valuable horses, or knot them, as in this instance.

WIFE DROPS FROM SIGHT.

A. H. Farrell, a prosperous Perris rancher, is seeking his lost wife, who dropped out of sight here mysteriously last Wednesday. On that day the couple came to town and during Farrell's momentary absence from their auto his wife disappeared. The officers are unable to solve the mystery.

Dana Woods Hatch, a music teacher of Hemet, is in trouble at Redlands, for failing to settle a rooming-house bill. He has been arrested and released on bonds. The examination will be held Tuesday, unless he settles in the meantime.

BABY ONLY BRUISED.

Mother Seriously Injured When Auto Collides With Buggy at Upland.

New "Hogback" Road.

UPLAND, Aug. 2.—While Mr. Sanders was driving with his wife and baby on Tenth street, last evening, in a rig hired from the Fashion stables, an automobile collided with the buggy. Mrs. Sanders was seriously injured but her husband and the child escaped with bruises. The horse was so severely hurt that it may have to be shot.

Officers took charge of the auto, which is held pending settlement of damages. The occupants said they were residents of Chino. One member of the party gave the name of S. Ager. Several hundred people enjoyed the band concert last evening.

Ernesto Weisard of Cucamonga was taken to the County Jail last night to await examination on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. In a drunken fight, it is alleged, he drove a knife into one of his countrymen, who is in a serious condition.

The road which the water company has been building around 'Hogsback," in the way to Camp Baynham, is now in commission and affords a much lower per cent. grade. Reports from the camp state that there are nearly three hundred people there now.

Cucamonga has raised $3000 for a new Methodist church. It will be of stone.

HUGS ANAHEIM WOMAN.

Girl Complains of Being Suddenly Seized in Tight Embrace—Thinks Culprit Is Mexican.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 2.—There is a "Jack the Hugger" here. A young woman reports that night before last, when she was returning to her home on East Center street, she "was suddenly seized in a tight embrace by a man hidden behind a tree." She soon succeeded in breaking away and ran to a near-by residence. A hasty search was made, but the man, whom the young woman thinks was a Mexican, could not be found.

Mrs. E. A. Burnett, aged 48 years, a well-known resident of this city, died yesterday of cancer.

The seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geise of Benedict died day before yesterday of heart failure.

CHOOSES OFFICERS.

The Anaheim Retail Merchants' Association has elected the following officers: C. F. Grim, president; F. A. Tungbluth, vice-president; George Loudon, treasurer; F. C. Spencer, secretary; Mr. Sumner, director.

For the week ending last night, twenty-two carloads of potatoes were shipped from Anaheim and Loara at prices ranging from sixty cents to $1 per sack. The Fullerton Vegetable Union will ship sweet potatoes from here this season, although the bulk of the crop will be moved from Fullerton.

A carload of machinery has arrived for the California Folding Crate Company, which has located in this city. The factory will have a capacity of 1000 crates per day and will give employment to ten or twelve people.

Miss Bertha Imus has accepted a position as assistant in the postoffice.

BROTHER SHOOTS SISTER.

Twelve-Year-Old Santa Barbara Girl Accidentally Wounded by Fourteen-Year-Old Boy.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The accidental shooting of twelve-year-old Lucia Thompson, daughter of Edward H. Thompson of this city, by her fourteen-year-old brother, Charlie, has prostrated the boy and his mother.

The shooting happened in the Thompson camp at Lyon's Springs in the Ojai Valley this afternoon. Charlie was practicing with a 22-caliber target rifle. The bullet glanced from a rock and struck Lucia behind the left ear, lodging in the bone. Dr. Cuzname came from Ventura in an automobile, but failed to find the bullet.

The girl, not unconscious, was hurried to Ventura in an automobile and arrived here tonight. She may recover.

MANY ANXIOUS TO BE JUDGE.

CANDIDATES GALORE SPRING UP IN IMPERIAL COUNTY.

Six Possible Routes for Inter-County Highway to San Diego. Lively Postoffice Trouble Settled. Land Seekers Object to Garfield's Small Farm Unit.

EL CENTRO, Aug. 2.—Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb has notified Judge Franklin J. Cole of the Imperial County Superior Court, in answer to inquiries, that he holds the appointment of a judge for this county, at its organization last August, was only until the next general election, and that he will advise the Governor to include this judgeship in the call for the next election.

This means an active campaign in Imperial Valley during the ensuing two months. Judge Cole is a candidate for reelection; Dist.-Atty. J. M. Eshleman, former Assemblyman from Alameda county, has announced his candidacy, as his health has broken under the arduous duties of the District Attorneyship in the new county, and he believes the judgeship would afford him a quieter occupation. Roy McPherron of Imperial is also a candidate for the Republican nomination, and the latest report is that Herbert W. Brewer of that city will also seek the office. The Democrats several weeks ago nominated ex-Judge Farr of Imperial as their candidate, taking chances on the possibility of the judgeship being included in the call for the general election.

SIX POSSIBLE ROUTES.

From surveys made by the San Diego Highway Commission it has been ascertained that there are six possible routes across the mountains from San Diego county to the Imperial Valley. One of these will be chosen for the intercounty highway, which it is anticipated will divert much valley travel to San Diego. At the next meeting of the Imperial County Board of Supervisors, a County Highway Commission will be appointed, and one of its first duties will be to coöperate in the creation of this intercounty highway.

POSTOFFICE MUDDLE SETTLED.

The campaign for the local postmastership, which has been rather lively, has culminated in the withdrawal of the resignation of Mrs. H. H. Brown and the appointment of J. J. Colby as deputy postmaster. Mr. Colby, who is a veteran of the Civil War, was one of the aspirants for the postmastership.

ASK LARGER FARM UNIT.

About 14,000 acres will come under irrigation over on the Colorado River as a result of the placing in operation of the mammoth scoop wheel to pour water into the gravity canals. Those interested in lands under this project have forwarded to Washington a petition asking that the farm unit be made at least forty acres, instead of fifteen, as Secretary Garfield had intimated might be done.

VALLEY BRIEFS.

The first outpost of the Salvation Army in Imperial Valley has been stationed here. Capts. L. W. Kimking and Arthur Hales have come from Los Angeles, and will work in the valley towns.

Two more carloads of Imperial Valley honey were sent out from here this week. The Valley Bee Keeper's Association met this week and received several new members. The secretary states that it is the belief of the association that bee-keeping in Imperial Valley cannot further expand until there is an increase in the acreage of alfalfa.

SUPERIOR JUDGESHIP.

Clark Defeats Orr at Republican Primaries in Ventura—Assemblyman May Succeed Himself.

VENTURA, Aug. 2.—The Republican primaries yesterday, at which Robert M. Clarke defeated Senator Orestes Orr for the nomination for Superior Judge, were the hottest ever held in the county. The total vote was 446. Clarke delegates polled 308.

The question of the nominee for Supervisor was also settled, another set of delegates being elected for Frank Cook over T. H. Jones by a vote of 296 to 116.

So far as the judgeship is concerned, this settles the nomination, as the matter of choice for the office was left by the county to this city.

Delegates were elected all over the county, but this was the only point at which there was any fight. From the Oxnard district, Maj. Carr will receive the nomination for Supervisor, while Nordhoff will probably favor J. H. Bailey. It is conceded that George Backett, present Assemblyman, will again receive the nomination for that office, and that Dr. Mott of Santa Paula will go to the joint Senatorial convention at Santa Barbara with a solid delegation of seven for the office of State Senator. The county convention will be held Wednesday in this city.

The Democratic primaries for this county have been called for the 8th inst. The county convention of that party will be held on the 15th in this city. It will be composed of eighty-seven delegates, the apportionment being based on every ten votes cast for Theodore Bell for Governor.

SHOT BREAKS UP DANCE.

Rivalry Over Girl at Beaumont Cause of Quarrel— White Man Fatally Wounded by Mexican.

BEAUMONT, Aug. 2.—Rivalry between Edward Robertson, a white laborer, and a Mexican, led to a shooting affray at a dance here last night, in which Robertson was fatally wounded.

José Trujola, who is accused of the deadly assault, has been arrested.

MECCA, Aug. 2.—J. F. Manning is erecting several four-room cottages for tenants and health-seekers.

Mecca is to have a new lumber yard. Parties from El Centro will establish the new business.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred-dollar doctor's bill."—[Adv.

CANNERY FOR THERMAL.

Cantaloupe Growers' Union May Take Hold of Project—Nimrods Barred from Indian Lands.

THERMAL, Aug. 2.—Members of the Thermal Cantaloupe Growers' Union are discussing the advisability of operating a canning factory here to take care of the vegetables which are too ripe to stand long shipment. Coachella Valley has proved a wonderful section for growing tomatoes, peas, green beans, asparagus, grapes, etc., all of which, it is believed, might be profitably canned here. It is possible the union may take hold of this cannery project on a small scale next season, as a department of its activities.

NEW HOTEL SOON READY.

Thermal is rejoicing over the acquisition of the finest hotel building between the Beaumont Pass and Yuma. The new hotel will be opened September 1, at which time it is expected a general reception to residents of the Coachella Valley will be given.

NO HUNTING ALLOWED.

Opening of the hunting season has forcibly called to mind to certain valley visitors that Uncle Sam has made provision for safeguarding the Indian reservations against the nimrods. Notice has been issued that hunting on Indian lands by others than Indians, except for subsistence in the Indian country is prohibited, and that any violation of this section will render the offender liable to a forfeiture of all guns, traps, ammunition, etc., and to a further penalty of $50.

VALLEY BRIEFS.

B. F. Burd has been appointed by the Supervisors of Riverside county to take charge of the roads in the Coachella district.

C. Paulson Vlael has a White American elm stree, planted December 25, 1907, when it measured three feet in height, that has now attained a height of six feet seven inches. Mr. Vlael's apricot trees have made a record of growing fifteen inches in one month.

E. D. Morrell has erected a residence at Coachella, and has gone from Thermal to engage in the general merchandise business there.

HOT SUN ADDS TO HIS AGONY.

ARCHITECT WITH BROKEN RIBS FOR HOURS DESERTED.

Landscape Expert, While Locating Boulevard Near San Diego, Thrown from Wagon and Lies by Roadside Half-Day—Want Grant for Elector. Cold Storage Plant.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 2.—Landscape Architect George W. Cooke was seriously injured in a runaway accident about ten miles east of Alpine Saturday morning. He had been out locating boulevard routes with Supervisors Adams and Foster, but left them near Alpine and went on with a farmer to look over a separate route.

The harness broke, a runaway resulted and Cooke was thrown from the wagon. The farmer pursued his horse, not believing that the architect was much injured. Nearly five hours later, when Adams and Foster heard of the accident, they went in search of Cooke and found him lying by the roadside in the hot sun and suffering intensely. Several of his ribs were broken and possibly serious internal injuries were sustained.

Dr. Lewis of this city was summoned to the Willows at Alpine, where the architect was taken. The doctor said it would not be safe to remove him to a sanatorium in this city.

WANT GRANT ON TICKET.

San Diego county Republicans will present to the Republican State Convention at Oakland the name of U. S. Grant, Jr., as a candidate for elector-at-large from the southern section of the State. A resolution to this effect was adopted by the Executive Committee of the County Central Committee at yesterday's meeting and will be indorsed by the county convention on August 18.

HARDY BRANCHES OUT.

Charles S. Hardy, the well-known Republican politician of this city is building a cold storage plant of 1,000,000 pounds capacity for handling beef. The building is of two stories and covers an area 50x100 feet. The latest improved refrigerator machinery is being installed. When completed the plant will have a freezing capacity of 100 beeves per day, besides a number of hogs, muttor and veal. It is said that Hardy anticipates competition with the Swift company, which has for months contemplated the erection of a modern packing plant in this vicinity.

WILL SAVE COUNTY MONEY.

County Assessor Moulton has compiled figures showing that the proposed amendment to turn over to the State all taxes from public service corporations and allow the county to keep all the other sources of income will save this county approximately $80,000. Data has been prepared by the Assessor for the use of the State Revenue Commission. The total value of tax-producing assets of the public-service corporations in this county is placed by the Assessor at $2,364,916. The capital stock and surplus of banks are included in the list.

ANOTHER STEAMER TO STOP.

Arrangements have been made by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company for the stopping of the steamer Curacao at this port on her trips between San Francisco and the ports of the west coast of Mexico. She will also stop at San Pedro. The Curacao is being repaired and will start on a regular run from San Francisco on August 7.

TOURS "REDLIGHT" DISTRICT.

Rev. William Francis Ireland yesterday made a tour of San Diego's "Redlight" district and afterward publicly denounced the method by which evils are allowed to exist there. He said the women should be kept out of saloons as they lure youths to crime. The minister addressed three meetings today. He advocated the election of men to the Legislature who are known to be opposed to race-track gambling and other evils alleged to exist in this State.

WILL BOOST ROADS.

A meeting of the San Diego County Good Roads Association has been called for August 18. This is the date of the Republican county convention and it is expected that a large number of ranchers from every part of the county will be in the city. It is proposed to take steps to assist the Highway Commission in the work of laying out boulevards.

Three Candidates in Race for Congressional Delegate.

Gov. Curry Will Aid Convention Nominees.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) July 31.—The Republican Territorial Convention to nominate a candidate for Delegate to the Sixty-first Congress will meet in this city on August 18. Unusual interest attaches to the coming convention, owing to the lively scramble for the delegateship. There are three candidates in quest of the nomination in the persons of Delegate W. H. Andrews, the incumbent; Hon. Charles A. Spiess, a prominent attorney of Las Vegas, and Associate Justice Edward A. Mann of Alamogordo. Although there is some strong opposition from within his own party, the indications are that Delegate Andrews will be successful, and it is almost a foregone conclusion that he will receive the nomination on the first ballot.

Already three counties have held their conventions to select delegates to the Territorial convention, and each have instructed their delegates for Andrews. There will be 130 votes in the convention, and the friends of Andrews are already claiming 110 on the first ballot, and this number may be increased. Both Andrews and Spiess have been making an active campaign for the nomination, and during the past three weeks they have visited every county in the Territory in the interest of their candidacy.

For the sake of harmony, Gov. Curry has not taken any sides in the contest, but he has announced that he will get out and work for the nominee of the convention, whoever he may be. This means that the Governor will take the stump and assist in every possible way to secure the election of the Republican candidate.

Republicans and Democrats alike appreciate the fact that in the coming campaign Republican success is absolutely necessary if the Territory is to obtain Statehood from the Sixtieth Congress, and for that reason many Democrats will vote for the Republican candidate because they want Statehood. They are willing to settle the question of political supremacy in the first State election.

The Democrats held their convention in June and nominated their candidate for delegate. His name is O. A. Larrazolo, a native lawyer of Las Vegas, who has twice been a candidate for delegate, but each time has been defeated. He is now running his third race. While popular with the Spanish-speaking classes, there is much opposition to him among the English-speaking classes of his party, and his defeat seems almost certain. Larrazolo is making an active campaign, however, and it is possible that the result may be closer than is now expected, although with Gov. Curry supporting the Republican candidate, the defeat of the latter would seem almost impossible.

The only possible thing that could jeopardize Republican success on November the third next, would be factional differences within the party, caused by the contest for the delegateship nomination, but so far the fight has not become intense enough to cause much apprehension from this source. The slogan of the Republicans in this campaign will be: "No Republican victory next November, no Statehood."

Presidential Loneliness.

Judge Taft rightly says that the President "in many senses is the loneliest man in the United States." The statement is not new, but it is very true. All the men who have served in the White House have had that experience. Some have complained of it. Mr. McKinley was of a nature desirous of conference, and able to digest advice to the general advantage. Not that he lacked initiative or individuality, but because he had great breadth of view, and knew the value of outside suggestion. Mr. Cleveland, on the other hand, preferred to work alone and unaided. And when his disposition stood revealed his party's leaders let him have his way. The result we all know.

Judge Taft is somewhat of the McKinley school. He is a companionable man of warm feelings, and knows the value of conference. His friends seek his society, assured of a welcome. If he goes there they will follow him to the White House, and will not have to wear wraps in midsummer to protect themselves against a frosty official atmosphere. Loneliness is not in the Taft philosophy, and loneliness will not be as much the judge's fate if he becomes President as it has become the fate of others who have held the office.—[Washington (D. C.) Star.

The Coming Orange Tree.

Botanists in the employ of the United States Department of Agriculture hope to bring into being an orange tree which will be as sturdy as the apple tree; an orange tree that will not perish in the chill of northern winter, which in December will bear its wreaths of snow and in May its garlands of bloom, and when summer comes will yield fruit as good as that sweetened in the south sun.

This may seem to be an unnatural proposition, but it only seems so. No violence upon the laws of nature has been or will be attempted. It is simply an effort to make the citrus tree which bears the sweet table orange as hardy and insensitive to cold as the citrus tree which bears the bitter, undible orange. By crossing a citrus tree which grows in the north and which bears an unedible fruit with the citrus tree of the south it is sought to beget a plant in which will be combined the good traits of each.

Government botanists are confident that the results of this citrus marriage will be a scion that will grow and fruit at a latitude midway between the northern limits of the sweet and the bitter orange. If this should be there might be orange groves in Central Virginia, Middle Kentucky, Southern Indiana, Southern Illinois, Central Missouri and Central Kansas. Think of orange groves around the homes in Richmond, Louisville, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Kansas City.—[June Technical World.

The Air's Friction.

London actor: I tell you, sir, I have played in all the largest theaters in Europe.

American actor: Yes, but they're nothing to the size of our theaters in America. Why, sir, we have theaters so big that when a man in a back seat throws an egg it hatches out before it reaches the stage.—[Tit-Bits.

Holds to Rights.

Henry L. Green of No. 427 South Olive street has filed a notice of water appropriation in San Bernardino county. He has regularly appropriated 2000 miner's inches of water in Waterman Cañon for years and some of the other locators believe he is acting in the interests of some corporation. Green stated yesterday that he kept up his filing of location notices to preserve his rights and that he has no immediate intention of developing water or erecting a power plant. He said he might some day use the water for mechanical purposes, but at present he has no information to give out.

Tennessee's Stingiest Man.

Gallatin claims to have the stingiest man in Tennessee, if not in the world, and a premium is offered for his superior in closefistedness. He got married to a home girl to save expenses. They walked around the square for a bridal tour. He bought her a nickel's worth of stick candy for a wedding present and then suggested that they save the candy for the children.—(Danville (Tenn.) Advocate.

ARIZONA.

MORE ACREAGE UNDER ORANGES.

NURSERY STARTED BY PLANTER FROM RIVERSIDE.

Harsh Criticism Over Local Methods of Cultivation—Egyptian Cotton Growers' Association Organized. Big Mines Still Fight Assessments. Freight Rates Reduced.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Aug. 1.—Encouraged by the success that has attended orange growing in this valley for the past few years, a large additional acreage will be planted this winter. J. A. Kirk, late of Riverside, Cal., has started the first nursery of orange trees ever planted in the Territory with the idea that Arizona-grown trees will be preferred to any imported. A late visitor from Riverside was F. H. Speich, agent of the Orange Growers' Association. He, like Mr. Van Kirk, is enthusiastic over this locality for orange growing, but he has harsh criticism over local methods of cultivation. Because of ignorance or of lax methods, he declares that the Arizona orange groves bear hardly a fifth of the crop that should come from them. Shallow and superficial cultivation was noted, with, usually, a lack of any nitrogen-bearing cover crop. Most of the groves got along without a bit of fertilization and the trees showed lack of care. Despite all this, the valley produced 120 carloads of the highest graded and highest priced fruit last winter and will do about as well the next season. The crop will be placed in the East by Mr. Speich, with the expectation that the first carloads will be shipped about November 15.

COTTON GROWERS ORGANIZE.

Farmers of the Arlington district, forty-five miles west of Phoenix, have organized the Egyptian Cotton Growers' Association. Cotton picking has begun around Arlington and Buckeye, with indications of a large crop and of exceptionally high quality of product.

FIGHT ASSESSMENTS.

The assessments made on the larger mines of Arizona by the Territorial Board of Equalization two years ago are still being fought by the larger mining companies of the Territory. The Old Dominion and United Globe Mining companies of Globe have just appealed to the Territorial Supreme Court from a decision of the District Court of Gila county, which placed upon them an additional tax payment of about $14,000, declared excessive.

Attorney C. F. Ainsworth of Phoenix, not satisfied with winning his liberty twice under application of the writ of habeas corpus, has started upon a policy of subjugation of officers who arrest the man who owns an automobile. Arrested twice for the same alleged offense in breaking the speed laws of Mesa, the lawyer defendant was released in each case, by submission of the country-drawn complaint and warrant to justices of the Supreme Court of Arizona. He holds that the second arrest was in contravention of his constitutional rights, so he has entered suit in the District Court against Constable M. C. Phelps of Mesa for $2000 damages. The total is arrived at by addition of the sum he was obliged to spend in going to Tucson, on the second habeas corpus proceeding before Judge Campbell, to the monetary value of two hours time spent in duress on one count and three and one-half hours on the other, together with the loss of twenty-five hours of valuable time spent in "fooling around with such an immaterial matter." Ainsworth has gone to Los Angeles and it is stated that other precinct officials in Mesa will be sued on his return. Just before his departure, on a trip made by him to Roosevelt, it was noted that his auto did not take the straight and usual road through the main street of Mesa.

DISGRACES NAMESAKE.

The city dog catcher, generally known as William Jennings Bryan, again has disgraced his namesake and is in jail, charged with stealing and selling dog license tags. He has been in jail so much that he has been declared a nuisance by the other prisoners. To save him from severe punishment in the main jail, the county officers are permitting him to lodge in a woman's cell, safe from the kangaroo court.

The Board of Trade will spend $500 on an exhibit at the Albuquerque session of the National Irrigation Congress and has started a movement for the transfer to Albuquerque, for a week, of the fine mineral exhibit now at the local fair grounds. J. C. Goodwin will be in charge of the mineral section.

Purses aggregating $17,400 will be offered in the racing department of the Territorial Fair in November. Entries will close September 15.

A reduction of ten cents a hundred pounds has been made on cement freight from California points to Phoenix. The same decrease would have been made on Kansas cement had the railroads not learned that the Kansas cement works were preparing to raise the price of their product just that amount.

The year's record for three-year-old trotters was taken Wednesday at Pekin, Ill., by Justo, a colt reared near Phoenix and owned by Mrs. J. C. Adams of this city, wife of President Adams of the fair commission.

MATERIAL REDUCTIONS.

Referring to the row that has been raised over the contract made between the Reclamation Service and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company of this city, L. H. Chalmers, attorney for the company, states that material reductions will be made in the rates for lighting and power here, as soon as the company begins to receive power from the government works.

Thornton Fitzhugh of Los Angeles was the only bidder for new buildings that are to be erected at the Arizona Hospital for the Insane. The appropriation made is $45,000.

Thirty bids were received by the Board of Control for construction work on the new penitentiary at Florence. Among them was one from C. Leonardt of Los Angeles, who bid $119,980 for the entire work. The Llewellyn Iron Works, Cheney-West Co., Machinery and Electrical Supply Company, Smith-Booth-Usher Co., Pacific Coast Manufacturing Company and Heber Bros. of Los Angeles bid on parts of the plant and construction work. The contracts will be awarded in a few days. Most of the labor is to be furnished by convicts.

About the time of the coming of the heavy rainfall at Florence, a number of wells within the town went dry for a day, thereafter filling up with water to the usual level.

The annual camp meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Arizona will begin at the church grounds near here on the 5th inst.

Death Penalty in Russia.

Statistics published recently show that the annual average executions in Russia from 1842 to 1904 were fifteen. In the six months from August, 1906, to February, 1907, they numbered 950. The total number in 1906 was 1642.

In 1907, 1603 death sentences were passed and 745 persons were executed.

PRESIDENT GREETS FRIENDS.

Attends Church With Three Sons and Invites Rector to House After Services.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.) Aug. 2.—President Roosevelt spent his usual quiet Sunday. He rode up to the village in an automobile in the morning, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and his sons, Kermit, Archibald and Quentin, and attended services at Christ Episcopal Church. Miss Ethel Roosevelt had preceded the family to church in order to teach her class of boys in the Sunday-school.

As the President was entering the church, he espied among those standing about Warren S. Young, chief clerk of the executive offices in Washington, who had just reached Oyster Bay to assist in the executive work here during the vacation of Secretary Loeb and other members of the staff. The President greeted Mr. Young warmly and invited him to sit with his family during the services, which Mr. Young did.

Rev. Karl Rieland, first assistant rector of Grace Church, New York, occupied the pulpit of the regular rector, Dr. Washburn, and delivered an interesting sermon.

After dinner the President sent a government automobile to the village to take the Rev. Rieland and his wife to Sagamore Hill, where they were entertained during the afternoon.

LEAVING OLD HOME.

Young Men's Christian Association Gathers for Final Meeting at Temporary Quarters.

The last service in the temporary quarters of the Young Men's Christian Association was conducted yesterday afternoon. The next meeting will probably be held in the new building. The service yesterday was of unusual interest.

The old building at No. 621½ South Broadway has housed the Y.M.C.A. for some time. Many stirring addresses have been given in the long corridor which has served as a hall, and hundreds of men have been benefited by the solid advice given by good speakers. There is a degree of sentiment which attaches to the old structure and because of this a large gathering of members and friends of the association enjoyed the closing service.

The meeting was in charge of Secretary D. E. Luther, and the principal address was delivered by State Secretary B. B. Wilcox, who spoke on "Service." There were short addresses by C. F. Quillian, assistant secretary; C. H. Price, physical director; W. J. Wilkie, J. L. Graham, George Ballman, L. C. Hamilton and Edward Emett.

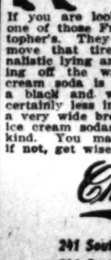
"Tell Me"



said a friend, "why the Lord shook down a church steeple at Santa Rosa and saved the brewery."
"That's easy," was the reply; "the newspaper correspondent lied. There were no churches injured at Santa Rosa. But the Lord jarred the saloons and the bakeries with equal impartiality."
If you are looking for miracles, try one of those Fruit Punches at Christopher's. They are warranted to remove that tired feeling, cure journalistic lying and keep you from falling off the water wagon. An ice cream soda is more refreshing than a black and white highball and is certainly less insidious. But there is a very wide breach between ordinary ice cream sodas and the Christopher kind. You may be aware of this; if not, get wise.
